

TRUMAN LAYS DOWN 21-POINT LEGISLATIVE PROGRAM

Early Lifting Of Controls Promised By Chief Executive

Long Message to Congress Today Cautions That Overall Abandonment of Restrictions Would Pave Way for "Bottle-necks"

WARNING EASED WITH CONFIDENCE EXPRESSION

Washington, Sept. 6.—(P)—President Truman called upon congress today to keep his war powers in force for the reconversion "emergency" as he laid down a 21-point legislative program. It included "limited" tax cuts next year and proposals to achieve full employment.

Mr. Truman told the legislators, assembled for their first peace-time session in four years, that the war will not be over on the home front until its economic impacts have been eased.

Hence, he said, proposals to abolish wartime controls by declaring the war officially at an end would lead to "great confusion and chaos in government."

The 16,000-word message, which Mr. Truman sent to Capitol Hill, promised a lifting of controls, one by one, as fast as possible. But it cautioned that their overall abandonment would leave the chief executive powerless to prevent "bottle-necks, shortages of material and inflation."

"The time has not yet arrived," the president asserted, "for the proclamation of the cessation of hostilities, much less the termination of the war. Needless to say, such proclamations will be made as soon as circumstances permit."

Tempering his warnings with expressions of confidence, Mr. Truman declared that prompt and vigorous congressional and administrative teamwork can usher in an era of unprecedented prosperity. "A vast backlog of orders may soon make possible the greatest peacetime industrial activity that we have ever seen," the president said, adding at another point: "In this hour of victory, over our enemies abroad, let us resolve now to use all our efforts and energies to build a better life here at home and better world for generations to come."

Recommending immediate enactment of a transition revenue bill to provide "limited tax reductions" for the calendar year 1946, Mr. Truman stressed that the reductions should aim principally "at removing barriers to speedy reconversion and to expansion of our peacetime economy."

He emphasized that the $66,000,000,000 the government expects to spend during this fiscal year will exceed anticipated revenue by $30,000,000,000 and added: "We must reconcile ourselves to the fact that room for tax reduction at this time is limited. A total (Turn to Page Seven)

Probe Into Pearl Harbor Demanded

BULLETIN
Washington, Sept. 6.—(P)—The senate voted unanimously today for a joint congressional inquiry into the Pearl Harbor disaster.

Washington, Sept. 6.—(P)—With President Truman's approval, Democratic Leader Barkley (Ky.) proposed in the senate today a joint congressional inquiry into the Pearl Harbor disaster.

Barkley introduced a resolution calling for a report to congress by a senate house committee not later than next January 3.

In offering the bill, the Democratic leader said: "I may say that the full knowledge and approval of the president of the United States, and I express the earnest hope, which he shares, that the two houses may promptly agree to it, that the investigation may proceed forthwith, and that the congress and the country may expect a full report within the time designated."

Barkley's action apparently assured a congressional investigation of the circumstances surrounding the Japanese sneak attack.

House Republican Leader Joseph W. Martin of Massachusetts called for "a full and impartial investigation" as the senate Republican steering committee backed legislation to set up a 14-member senate-house committee to make the inquiry.

"We're going to press for an independent investigation that will give the people all the facts," Martin said in an interview. "We believe that the people are entitled to know the whole truth about the pearl harbor disaster."

He added that he did not believe the recent reports of army and navy boards on what happened at Pearl Harbor, Dec. 7, 1941, cleared the atmosphere.

Casualty Wheel Spins In Reverse

Washington, Sept. 6.—(P)—The men who came back today gave America's war casualty wheel another spin in reverse.

By today's official count, 3,485 missing army men who never had been listed as prisoners because nobody knew what happened to them, were removed from the missing rolls and restored to the liberated living.

An increase of 604 belated navy casualty reports offset this figure somewhat, however, and left the armed forces' combat casualty total for the war standing at 1,070,452. This was 93 less than last week's figure, and additional reports are yet to come.

Last week's total, marking the first reduction since the war started, was 274 below the previous week's.

Total casualties for the army now stand at 922,587, and for the navy 147,965.

ENVOY DENIES HE WAS USED AS TRAP BAIT

Special Jap Ambassador Contends He Knew Nothing of Plans Raid On Pearl Harbor

"WORKED FOR PEACE"

San Francisco, Sept. 6.—(P)—Saburo Kurosu, Japanese special envoy who was discussing peace in Washington at the moment of the sneak attack on Pearl Harbor, was quoted today as contending that he knew nothing of the raid plans and was "deeply hurt" by the American accusation that he was bait for the trap.

Frederick C. Oppen, American Broadcasting Company correspondent, also quoted Kurosu as reiterating: "I did not know anything about the attack on Pearl Harbor before I left Tokyo. As a matter of fact, I found Prime Minister Tojo more optimistic about chances for peace than I was. I told him I thought things were very precarious in the Pacific and when I met President Roosevelt a little later I told him the same thing—that a single spark could start war in the Pacific."

Oppen, who related in a broadcast from Yokohama that he interviewed Kurosu at his home seven hours by train out of Tokyo, said the envoy told him that on Dec. 7, 1941, his appointment with Secretary Hull was delayed by the slow decoding of a long message from Tokyo.

When he met Hull, he received the secretary's now-famous tongue-lashing and then returned to the Japanese embassy and learned about Pearl Harbor from the radio, he asserted.

Kurosu said he was confident that the Japanese ambassador to Washington, Adm. Kichisaburo Nomura, also was ignorant of Pearl Harbor plans.

"What hurts me is to be called treacherous and double-crossing by Americans. I have worked hard for peace," Kurosu said.

"Now, in this war, I have lost everything—my reputation, my home, my only son. Let no one think I like war."

Oppen said Kurosu told him his home had been burned down in a B-29 raid and his son, a captain in the Japanese air force, had been killed in a fight over Tokyo.

Death Claims Federal Judge Schoonmaker

Pittsburgh, Sept. 6.—(P)—Federal Judge Frederick Farn Schoonmaker of the Western Pennsylvania district court died last night at the home of his daughter in South Norwalk, Conn., relatives here said today. He was 75.

The jurist, was named to his post by President Harding on December 20, 1922, and sworn in a month later.

Judge Schoonmaker, in ill health, left three weeks ago for New England but associates here said his condition improved and news of his death came unexpectedly following a heart attack. He was visiting at the home of Mrs. W. G. Blaisdel, his daughter.

About 20 years ago, Schoonmaker left a job as a practicing lawyer in northwestern Pennsylvania and became a veteran of the Mexican border campaign of 1916, then went to France with the 120th Regiment in 1917 and saw service in many notable engagements.

He was at Chateau Thierry, Argonne Forest in the Vosges and at Metz in World War I.

Judge Schoonmaker was born at Limestone, Cattaraugus county, N. Y., and attended Alfred University, the University of Minnesota and Cornell. He read law under Judge James Schoonmaker of St. Paul and Col. W. W. Brown of Bradford.

Three Divisions Going To Pacific

Washington, Sept. 6.—(P)—The war department has decided to send to the Pacific only three of six combat divisions alerted to go.

Acting upon the recommendation of Gen. Douglas MacArthur, the department cancelled redeployment orders for the 2nd, 8th and 95th infantry divisions.

The 86th and 97th Infantry Divisions and the 13th Airborne Division still will be redeployed. The infantry units are at sea en route to Japan. Members of the 13th are on furlough and will assemble early in October at Fort Bragg, N. C.

All of the enlisted men in the 13th with 45 discharge points as of May 12, those 37 years of age and those 34 to 36 inclusive with a year of service will be screened out before departure.

Death Follows "Faith Demonstration"

Lewis E. Ford, left, is shown as he placed a rattlesnake about the neck of an unidentified worshiper during a recent "demonstration of faith" near Daisy, Tenn. Ford himself died of snake bite a few days after the picture was made.

Norton, Va., Sept. 6.—(P)—The Rev. Harvey O. Kirk, of nearby Ramsey, Va., was arrested late last night on a charge of manslaughter in connection with the death of his wife, Anna, who died Monday after she was bitten by a rattlesnake at religious demonstrations of "faith healers." Also taken into custody were three of the sect members—Paul Dotson, Leander Ely and John Wilson—on charges alleging they "unlawfully and feloniously" brought poisonous snakes to a religious demonstration of Stone Creek Saturday and allowed them to be turned loose among spectators and sect members and that one of the snakes bit Mrs. Kirk, causing her death. The 26-year-old woman died six hours after her baby was born prematurely.

Eleven Jurors Are Seated To Hear McKinney Murder Trial

When court recessed this noon there were eleven jurors seated in the jury box to hear the testimony and weigh the evidence in the case of the Commonwealth vs. Adaline McKinney on a charge of murder. Mrs. McKinney this morning looked somewhat wan and tired from her days in court and the strain is evidently affecting her to some extent.

Seated in the jury box today are five women and six men. In all, fourteen jurors will be drawn. This is arranged under an act of the Pennsylvania state legislature and provides a complete jury should one or two members become sick.

Those seated are: Blanch Borchers, Warren; Mrs. Viola Putnam, Russell; William G. Cable, Warren; Virgil Kitzner, Warren; Cecil Bates, Columbus township; Luther Anderson, Scandia; Josephine Carlson, Warren; Edwin Weller, Sheffield township; Clarence Hendrickson, Warren and Helen Buckingham, Tidoute; Mrs. Ruth Thompson, Warren. The jurors are quartered at the Carver House, in charge of the Constables of the Court.

There were sixteen prospective jurors examined this morning and the usual test questions were asked by the attorneys. Most of those who were presented today for examination had formed fixed opinions in the case after reading newspaper accounts of the case.

One juror this morning drew a laugh from the spectators when he was asked: "Betts, how many children have you?" Frank L. Betts, of Columbus promptly answered "Four." "Their ages?" And then came the reply "20, 18 and 17."

Still Taking Testimony In Erie Case

Erie, Sept. 6.—(P)—Testimony was continued today in Erie county court in the case of two Williamsport men—Robert W. Pepperman, 29, and John D. West, 27—accused of beating Joseph B. Campbell, 73, to death with a bedroom slipper.

Witnesses for the commonwealth occupied the stand most of the time yesterday, although both defendants testified.

Attorney Elmer D. Loose said he would base the defense principally "on the fact that the boys had been terrorized by the back-ground of those boys." He added he would not make an insanity plea, but would stress psychology, psychiatry, and "the mental attitude at the time of the killing."

District Attorney Burton R. Laub reiterated a previous statement that he would ask the death penalty.

In the morning session a precedent was set by the admission of recordings of statements allegedly given by the accused at Erie state police barracks. Later, signed statements were read from the stand by State Police Sgt. William Schauer of Erie and Pvt. William Fink, Williamsport.

Cpl. Bernard J. Martin, officer in charge of identification for the state police, testified that a live turtle-buck of Campbell's car was identical to West's.

Historic Flag to be Raised Over Tokyo by MacArthur When He Enters City Friday

First Cavalry Estimated At 15,000 Men and Number Of Service Units To Move In

Yokohama, Sept. 6.—(P)—The First American reconnaissance patrols entered Tokyo today to arrange for the formal entry of First Cavalry troops and General MacArthur Saturday (Friday, U. S. time). A small detachment of the 11th Corps' First Cavalry surveyed the heavily damaged capital, where MacArthur will raise the American flag in front of the U. S. embassy Saturday.

By MURLIN SPENCER
Yokohama, Sept. 6.—(P)—General MacArthur, announcing he would enter Tokyo Saturday (Friday afternoon U. S. time) with the first occupation forces, said today that by mid-October 7,000,000 Japanese troops would have been disbanded—the greatest force ever to capitulate in the history of warfare.

Approximately 3,000,000 of these forces are in the home islands and will be sent to their homes, he said. The other 4,000,000 are in outlying Pacific areas.

From 300,000 to 400,000 American soldiers will occupy the home islands and Korea, he added. (Radio reports said this would leave an estimated 120,000 other Americans now in the Pacific free to go home.)

As MacArthur reaches Tokyo Saturday, he will raise over the American embassy the flag that flew in Washington December 7, 1941, and later over Casablanca, Rome, Berlin and the battleship Missouri in Tokyo Bay.

Gen. Hitoshi Inamura surrendered today the 139,000 Japanese forces long since bypassed in Rabaul, New Ireland, the other Solomon Islands and New Guinea. He signed their final capitulation aboard the British aircraft carrier Glory, and handed over his sword to Lt. Gen. V. A. H. Sturdee, commanding the First Australian Army Corps.

Service units and general headquarters personnel will move into the heart of the capital with the cavalrymen Saturday at 6 a. m. (5 p. m. Friday, eastern war time), Domei reported.

Eighth Army headquarters will remain temporarily at Yokohama. Tokyo newspapers, meanwhile, disclosed that a virtual revolt against Japanese rule had occurred in Keijo, Korea, in mid-August, and reported the release of 20,000 political prisoners in Korea—controlled by Japan for 34 years. It was the first acknowledgment to Japanese at home that any Koreans had been held as political prisoners.

Augmenting of both Tokyo and Yokohama civilian police by addition of carefully selected members of the former Kimpai-Tai, Japan's secret police, was announced by U. S. Eighth army headquarters.

Only a few of these new recruits will be armed, headquarters said, although all are empowered to arrest Japanese civilians.

A Domei broadcast estimated at 8,000 the strength of U. S. First Cavalry Division units which are to move into 40 of Tokyo's 200 square miles Saturday, and said additional troops also were expected in the Tachikawa area on Friday. There already are 4,000 Americans in this zone, northwest of Tokyo.

Eighth Army headquarters announced that its forces now had released 27 per cent of all Allied prisoners known to have held in its occupation zone, northern Honshu. The total in all areas of Honshu reached 3,996.

GEN. EISENHOWER IS GREETED IN BRUSSELS

Brussels, Sept. 6.—(P)—Gen. Eisenhower arrived by train in Brussels today to receive the freedom of the city and met a rousing welcome.

He inspected a Belgian guard of honor lined up on the platform at the Gare Du Midi. With him was Col. John Sherman, chief of the U. S. mission to Belgium. Later he was received by Burgomaster Hanse of Saint Gilles.

Before the general entered his car outside the station two young Belgian girls rushed up and kissed him on both cheeks. A crowd of several thousand outside the station shouted "Vive Eisenhower."

FAVORS OCCUPATION ARMY OF 4-F MEN

Washington, Sept. 6.—(P)—Rep. Joe Bates (D-Ky.) makes this suggestion: Let's fill the army of occupation with men deferred as 4-F or as war workers.

"Every man with overseas stripes should be discharged," Bates told a reporter. "Why can't some of the 3,000,000 deferred since the draft began be put in uniform now? Many of these were turned down earlier for minor physical disabilities which wouldn't prevent them, from serving in a police force abroad."

Washington, Sept. 6.—(P)—President Truman told congress today it ought to give itself "a straight, out-and-out salary increase."

He suggested a salary of $20,000 a year. That's exactly twice the present pay.

At the same time Mr. Truman recommended repeal of the legislation by which the house earlier this year gave each of its members an additional expense allowance of $2,500 a year. (The senate rejected the proposal.)

There is no doubt in the mind of any thinking American," Mr. Truman said in a message to congress, "that members of congress are grossly underpaid and have been for many years."

He recommended also "an adequate retirement system" for members of congress and said that more pay for them "should be the first step in creating a decent salary scale for all federal government employees—executive, legislative and judicial."

Congress' last raise came in 1925. That year it boosted salaries of its members from $7,500 to $10,000. Prior to 1907 the salary was $5,000.

REPARATIONS FOR U. S. TO BE MEAGRE

America's Eventual Re-compense From Enemy To Be About Five Per Cent Of Soviet Union

ASSETS ARE CACHED

By DANIEL DE LUCE
Berlin, Sept. 6.—(P)—The American share of German reparations, it was predicted by financial experts today, is likely to be the smallest of any of the four occupying powers.

The Americans' eventual recompense from the defeated enemy is expected to be about five per cent of that of the Soviet Union, about one-half of Britain's and somewhat less than that of France, despite an intensive search by United States agents for a treasure trove of concealed German assets abroad estimated at slightly over one billion dollars.

The first major United States proposal before the Allied control council is a decree which would vest ownership of all Germany's external property in the council. This is deemed necessary before direct action can be taken to seize German assets in neutral countries. The decree is still under discussion.

According to preliminary American estimates, the Germans have cached assets of $989,667,000 among five neutrals. Switzerland is believed to have $600,000,000. The remainder is distributed among Argentina, Spain, Portugal and Turkey.

In addition, possibly another $100,000,000 is secreted in Sweden. All machinations known to high and low finance were used by Nazi capitalists to hide the trail of the wealth they sent abroad. A simplified example is an account opened under a Swiss name in a Swiss bank, transferred to a Dutch bank, retransferred to a Swedish bank and ultimately placed in either the United States or Britain.

The handling of commercial stocks makes much more baffling problems for investigation.

American interest in uncovering all of Germany's foreign holdings is acute because these hold what is described by financial experts as "about the only feasible form in which we can get some real reparations."

Unlike the other Allies, the United States shows little desire to obtain physical resources from Germany.

Find Remains Of Missing Waitress

Fayette City, Sept. 6.—(P)—State police reported today they had found the body of 17-year-old Anna Elizabeth Dreyer, pretty red-haired waitress who disappeared last Saturday morning.

The report came from Corp. Charles De Witt, in a message to the state police station at Belle Vernon.

He said the body was found near the intersection of Routes 51 and 711, on the road to Connellsville. No details were given.

Many searchers had been out looking for her.

Meantime, police sought two youths for questioning. The police teletype request stated the two were believed in Pittsburgh.

The girl was reported last seen at 2:20 a. m. Saturday when a friend drove her from the restaurant in Monessen, where she was employed. A purse and pieces of a girl's clothing, said by state police to be Miss Dreyer's, was found later in a woods.

President In Favor Of A Raise for Representatives

Washington, Sept. 6.—(P)—President Truman told congress today it ought to give itself "a straight, out-and-out salary increase."

Party Given At St. Paul's For Minister

An after-vacation party was held in St. Paul's Lutheran church Wednesday evening, when about 200 persons gathered to honor and encourage their pastor, Rev. Nore G. Gustafson, and his family.

A hymn was sung as the guests of honor entered and Rev. P. E. Nordgren, of Kane, read the scriptures and offered prayer. Earl Ericson was accompanied by Mrs. Emil Jacobson as he sang "Hold Thou My Hand", and followed a few remarks, Miss Alfreda Laugquist sang a Swedish number "Hur Gulligt O Jesus".

Pastor Hans Pearson, of Sheffield, gave an interesting talk on "Why Preachers Are So Busy" and Mrs. Jacobson played an organ number in a Monastery Garden" by Ketelby.

The ladies of the church had chosen Mrs. Carl Lundahl to present to Mrs. Gustafson a lovely corsage of rosebuds, and the church treasurer, Ned Johnson, presented a purse of money to the pastor.

After responses by the Gustafsons, Rev. Earl Carlson, newcomer to Youngsville, was called upon for brief remarks. After a closing hymn, he pronounced the benediction and all were invited to the social rooms for refreshments and a chance to enjoy a period of fellowship.

New Policy In Vogue At Outing Club

During the past few weeks the attendance at the Marconi Outing Club has been such that the management feels that the members and their friends should have more entertainment. To that end a new policy has been adopted whereby each week there will be three acts on the bill. They will perform twice each evening and together with the excellent music by the club music makers the visitors to the club will have some enjoyable entertainment.

The first presentation of the three act floor show will be made this week opening on Friday and continuing Saturday and Sunday evenings. The bill being headed by Karl and Nena, who are dancers. Sally Warren has been chosen as mistress of ceremonies as she scored so highly last week. Maurice Hager will complete the bill. He is a clever and versatile performer giving impersonations of stage and radio stars with a strong comedy slant.

Men and Women In the Service

Major DeVore Resigns His CAP Position

Lt. Col. Arthur J. Hyde and Major E. J. DeVore have just announced their resignations as commander and executive officer, respectively, of the Maryland Wing of the Civil Air Patrol. Both have held their positions since the organization of the Civil Air Patrol before Pearl Harbor and have capably led the Maryland Wing through the war years.

Major DeVore is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry DeVore of Tidewater. His civil air patrol duties have been carried on in his spare time from his regular position as circulation manager of the Washington Star. In addition to his duties as executive officer, he flew on the coastal patrol at Atlantic City when the Civil Air Patrol was doing such a remarkable job in helping the army to guard the coast lines by spotting submarines. He also flew on tow target and tracking missions from Langley Field in Virginia and Bolling Field in Washington, D. C., as well as being responsible for assigning all the pilots from Maryland and the District of Columbia to these missions.

Major DeVore has been actively interested in flying for the past seventeen years and is a member of the Washington Hangar of Q. B., an organization composed of most of the early pilots of the United States. He is the 1942 recipient of the National Air Derby Association trophy given to the man who has done the most for the promotion of private flying in the Washington area.

Sgt. Jones Is Given Cluster

Mrs. Wilbur N. Jones, 103 St. Clair street, has received word that her husband has been awarded the Oak Leaf Cluster to the Bronze Star Medal for valorous conduct in action against the enemy.

From headquarters of the Third Infantry Division, she has received the following copy of the citation accompanying the decoration:

"Wilbur N. Jones, Staff Sergeant, Infantry, Company H, 7th Infantry Regiment, for valorous conduct in action against the enemy. On 16 April 1945, when his heavy machine gun section encountered intense enemy machine gun fire, at 200 yard range, as it advanced toward Neunhof, Germany, Staff Sergeant Jones halted his men and ran forward about 75 yards on a reconnaissance. Although the hostile force concentrated its fire on him, he returned over the flat field, and led his section into positions he selected. Then, for over ten minutes, he remained exposed, directing his men's fire, which soon killed the 2-man crew of one gun and enabled riflemen to outflank another and capture 6 Germans. (Signed) W. T. Sexton, Brigadier General, U. S. Army, Commanding".

MAKING THE WORLD SAFE FOR DEMOCRACY

With heavy heartburnings and some tears, the mikado's representatives have formalized Japan's capitulation only four months after her German partner in crime surrendered. And thus, as Marshal Stalin tells his people, "now we can say that conditions necessary for the peace of the world have already been won."

That is, the Axis brigands are knocked out militarily and the next step in world reformation is possible. U. S. Secretary of State Byrnes sums up that step this way:

"So we come to the second phase of our war against Japan—what might be called the spiritual disarmament of the people of that nation—to make them want peace instead of war. x x x To bring about the spiritual disarmament of the Japanese we intend to remove all obstacles, such as oppressive laws and practices, which in the past have closed the door to truth and have stifled the free development of democracy in Japan. We shall have eliminated the ultra nationalistic and totalitarian teachings, in the schools and among the people, which in the past have made the people accept the militaristic philosophy of the war lords."

That's a tall order—and much the same thing holds true, of course, regarding Germany. The reform of these aggressor nations means hard and long toil for the Allies. It calls for great sacrifice on our part, for we must continue military occupation of both countries during the transition period. The length of the occupation depends on our progress in changing the very natures of the some eighty million people in each of these first-class powers—now reduced to the ranks.

How long the Allies will be engaged in this task is anybody's guess, but the thing we do know is that we must stick with it until the job is done if we are to get lasting peace. We shall invite disaster if we stop half way. Former Secretary of State Hull declares "we must continue surveillance over these two countries until their peoples demonstrate clearly their willingness and ability to live peacefully in a peaceful world."

NEED FOR A PEACETIME OSS

Some of the war's most surprising and interesting "now it can be told" stories were the first ones describing the secret overseas activities of the Office of Strategic Services. They probably will become more interesting as more details of the dangerous and dramatic OSS operations are recorded.

It is certain that a lot of people never heard of OSS during the war. It also is certain that nobody outside the highest government circles and OSS itself knew exactly what the super-secret agency was doing.

But the people know now. And having become acquainted with OSS, they must decide whether they want to keep it.

The United States never has had a foreign secret service, perhaps because Americans just haven't liked the idea, or because our government has been a little honest, trusting and innocent. But other countries have had such services and will continue to have them.

So it would seem only sensible that we carry over into peacetime some form of organization to collect and co-ordinate foreign information as Maj.-Gen. W. J. Donovan, head of OSS service has suggested.

Already there is talk of smaller occupation forces and a shorter occupation for Germany and Japan than were originally planned. Some day we shall be getting out of both countries. But it is naive and dangerous nonsense to think they will not need watching for a long time, or that influential groups in both countries are not already thinking about a coming war of vengeance.

If we had had an OSS before the war, the disaster at Pearl Harbor might have been averted or certainly minimized. To prevent another such disaster will require constant vigilance, probably maintained in secrecy.

It seems safe to say that an international spy system is a little too sinister and melodramatic for the tastes of most of us. But if it can avoid the inaccuracies, confusion, cross-purposes and delay that led up to Pearl Harbor, let's have it.

T-H-O-U-G-H-T-S

Now no chastening for the present seemeth to be joyous, but grievous: nevertheless afterward it yieldeth the peaceable fruit of righteousness unto them which are exercised thereby.—Hebrews 12:11.

The time that precedes punishment is the severest part of it.—Seneca.

Interesting Items Taken From The Warren Evening Times

1925
At the meeting of the town council, members brought up the need of bettering traffic conditions on Pennsylvania avenue. Important action is expected immediately.

Bill Rice, with a 91-18-73, won the medal handicap golf tournament at the Country Club. Besides winning the cup, he also had his handicap cut four strokes.

Over Labor Day weekend local police made thirteen arrests. Nine were for drunkenness and four for speeding. The nine were given fines while the others were given delayed sentences.

The Warren county Exposition had one of its largest openings in history. Free acts, exhibits, fireworks, bands, and all types of displays are the feature attraction.

1935
Members of the Maple Leaf Boy Scout committee met at the home of F. A. Schoonover to make plans whereby the Scouts will participate in various community fairs this fall.

Cheronis Brothers, 328 Pennsylvania avenue, west, will hold a special opening to inaugurate their new ice-cream machine. Free cones will be given to kiddies.

According to Superintendent of Schools John G. Rossman, attendance at the borough schools is less this year than last. Both High School and Beatty showed increases, however.

Ray Poppletton, of the Post Office Garage team, copped the individual batting title in the Class A Sunset league with a .552. "Fug" Swanson was second.

Job Wilkins loses the wanderlust

Job Wilkins was always a great one for traveling. Two weeks a year he used to cover more ground than a Pullman conductor. Used to come back from vacations tuckered out.

But the war has changed all that. Gasoline shortages—and saving space on trains for service men—has got Job spending his vacations home... and liking it!

"Never knew staying home could be such fun," says Job. "Outdoor barbecues... sitting around and chatting with the kids and family... basking in the sunshine with a glass of cold beer... that's living!" Job says. From where I sit, Job's discovered what millions of other Americans have learned through the war. Whether your choice is beer or butter milk... a quiet book or a bit of friendly conversation... there's no place like home... where we grumble the most and get treated the best!

Chapter 32

"JANE'S the smart one," remarked an aunt bitterly. "She slipped out here and wormed her way—"

"Jane"—Mark Sheridan's arm was strong—"I have a car outside; let's get out of here."

She could cry softly when they were alone; she could forget her bitter disappointment in the man beside her and rest in the curve of his arm.

"You mustn't forget you made up to her for the others," he said once. "I've reconstructed things, and now I believe I understand everything. I was too hurt at first."

"Hurt," cried Jane. "Yes, deeply hurt to think that neither you nor Mrs. Stanton trusted me enough to reveal your relationship to me."

She hadn't thought of it that way.

"I felt, all along, that Mrs. Stanton had become interested in the company from some unselfish motive. I'd been cheated of unselfish affection, and it meant a great deal more than the actual help she gave me through you. I hadn't—"

Jane sat up indignantly. "Mark Sheridan, you are the stupidest man alive. Gram would have sacrificed any time to save you."

"As she did when she loaned me the money for that copper shipment," he asked. "That was money you had repaid, wasn't it? I thought of that, too, there in the lobby."

"It seems to me," Jane told him bitterly, "that you were thinking of Mark Sheridan more than anyone else at that particular moment."

THEY drove into the painted hills, wild rose and purple and amber hills rising into a clear green sky.

There was no one at the big house. The "issus" preferred the better hotels of Sacramento. Only the ancient maid awaited them.

"Dinner's all ready," she announced.

The table was set for two. "Mrs. Stanton said you'd be coming together," the old woman said. "She telephoned your office, and when Miss James said you'd gone on to Washington, Miss Jane, she just let go."

"Let go?"

The old woman smiled. "Yes. She said, and I remember her very words. 'Well, now that those two young idiots have settled their affairs, I can let go. I'm so tired and so very happy!'"

"And then she asked me not to try to awaken her."

Neither Mark nor Jane could appreciate the dinner. When they arose the old woman followed them and handed each a rose.

Mark Sheridan read his in the twilight of the big porch.

She's ashamed of the scandalous Stantons, son, I'm not; they've danced in the sun and kicked a little too high for propriety's sake, but they've had their fun. They'll learn."

Jane has suffered from their dancing by being passed around from one hand to the next with never a home she could call her own; never one person, excepting myself, to give her that unselfish love we all need.

That's up to you, Mark. Make her feel safe and secure, and loved. Bless you, son; I'm going to rest well, knowing I have such a lad as you in my family.

And in Gram's room Jane read her last message.

A man who is stupid in those little things that delight the heart of a woman is a safe man, a good husband. His very stupidity proves he has not developed the talent by practicing on other women.

Our Mark is deliciously stupid and fine.

I've left her note to Mr. and Mrs. Mark Sheridan; please attend to making this legal, immediately.

There was more, Jane lingered over each word, each syllable, loving the tired old woman who had kept her final rest at bay until she had completed her work.

And then Jane went to the dressing room to powder and to comb her hair; to slip into a rose-colored jacket of velvet and go out to Mark on the porch.

"Jane, I want to explain—" She laid a finger across his lips. "Let's not. I don't need explanations, Mark. Do you?"

"Neither now, nor ever," he answered.

The hills below them turned blue; the stars came out overhead. The ancient woman who had served Mrs. Stanton for so long stood at a window and watched the silhouette of the pair that seemed only one.

"That," she said softly, "is the best business deal Mrs. Stanton ever put over."

The Curious Clue

BY RUFUS HEED

Chapter 1

IF Seth had not come down to Key West for the official flight of his new airplane, Suzy Van Tyne's vacation would have ended quite differently. But that week end was the beginning of it all.

As the heat from a coal sky closed down over the government's landing field Friday afternoon, there was nowhere the slightest hint of the swift disaster that would cost the lives of two people and threaten their own happiness.

Seth Peabody listened eagerly to General Howard's praise as the airplane taxied back to its hangar.

"A steam engine for airplanes! I never dreamed it was possible," the General exclaimed. "Why Peabody, that plane of yours was climbing better than 7,000 feet a minute!"

"Thank you, General," Seth said with a quick smile. "Today has been worth the years of work—and failure."

The General nodded. "We'll go to my office, and I'll sign the contracts right away."

"But I haven't seen Suzy yet, sir," Seth stopped abruptly, searching the sky with his glasses. "I thought she would watch the flight test from the ground."

"She did intend to, but she saw a strange plane circling the field just before you arrived and decided to chase it off. You know she's the best dogged woman pilot in this country," the General chuckled.

"Van Tyne Aircraft has a special job waiting for her as soon as she gets home. That's one reason I'm staying over this week-end—I'm commissioned to bring her back with me."

"She's been having a beautiful time in Key West. Come along with me to see those contracts signed by the time she gets back..." the General's voice was urgent, but he added irrelevantly.

"The best way to protect that airplane of yours is to get it out of Key West as fast as you can."

SETH, startled, was about to ask a question, when he saw the General's face. Silently he fell into step beside him. Once inside the cool, shaded office, Seth and the General quickly finished the business of signing the contracts. As he carefully packed his brief case with the precious documents, Seth felt as if a segment of his life was wrapped up with these red sealed papers, these specifications and accepted drawings.

"What are you going to do with that dossier?" the General demanded abruptly.

"Take it to the hotel with me," Seth answered, surprised at the unexpected question. "I'm leaving at sunrise Sunday morning."

"I'll take care of it for you, up till after dinner tomorrow night," the General stood up and faced Seth across the table. "As long as you are in Key West and have those plans with you, you are in danger."

Seth stared at him incredulously. "But I don't understand..." he began.

There was something different about Suzy. She made him feel nervous.

"There are men here who have been waiting weeks for the test flight of your plane. They want these plans. Everything we have done here at the fort has been surrounded with the utmost secrecy, but in spite of our precautions, someone was evidently tipped off today and came scouting around this afternoon. That's why Suzy took off to drive them away."

"But who—who-what—" Seth began, puzzled over the General's flat statement of facts. "That sounds as if they might be enemy spies."

"Or just competitors," the General answered, non-committally. "All I can do is to warn you again to be careful while you are in Key West. Anything can happen in this town."

So Seth decided to leave not only his contracts, but the dossier as well with the General until he was ready to fly back to New York. A few minutes later he hurried out of the General's office to find Suzy standing beside her roadster, waiting for him.

IN the late afternoon sunshine, Seth was very much aware of the golden picture she made as her tumbled auburn-colored hair and tan suede jacket seemed to take on an added glow from the bright winter sun. That was the way he loved to see her—all tan and gold—like a golden sunset.

"Hi, Gold," he shouted. "Remember me? I'm the man you're going to marry!"

Perfectly oblivious to the sentry pacing in front of the building, he bent down and kissed her. He saw her face flush under her deep tan, as an orderly sprang forward to open the door of the car for her.

"You're incorrigible!" she breathed as she swung the car through the winding roads of Fort Schuyler. "But I'm glad you came down for the test flight. How'd that?—and are the contracts signed?"

"Yes, my sweet. Everything's signed, sealed, and at long last delivered. Your dad sent me down to bring you home. The town's too lonesome for both of us without you."

The car seemed to be taking all of Suzy's attention, as she drove carefully out onto Roosevelt Boulevard.

"I imagine you've been having a lot of fun down here, Gold," Seth's voice was tentative. There was something different about Suzy. She made him feel nervous—not quite sure of himself.

"Yes, I'm having a wonderful vacation," she answered quickly. "Wallis Warner is here—you remember her from Miss Holland's school. Henry Ottor's here—"

"Not that big old lumox who is with Western National Airways?"

Suzy laughed. "A perfect description, Seth. But the most important thing is my dancing."

"Don't tell me you've gone back to that."

"I am taking my dancing rather seriously because I found an unusual dance instructor here. I've been working on the rumba, and the samba."

As they entered the driveway of the Casa Linda, Seth noticed for the first time that Suzy was not wearing her engagement ring!

THE STORY OF THE ATOM - - - - - No. 3: The First Mention of Atoms

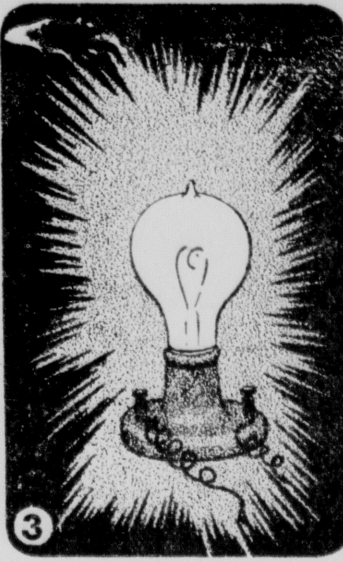

(1) Smashing of the atoms in the bomb that blasted Hiroshima resulted from a vast store of information about the atom and the way atoms are constructed. The idea of the atom dates back to ancient times. In about the year 375 B.C. in Greece, Democritus, the "laughing philosopher with an untidy grey beard," taught his students that a stone is built up of very small particles, just as a temple is constructed of stones. He called these particles "atoms" and said they were the ultimate of smallness. They could not be divided further.

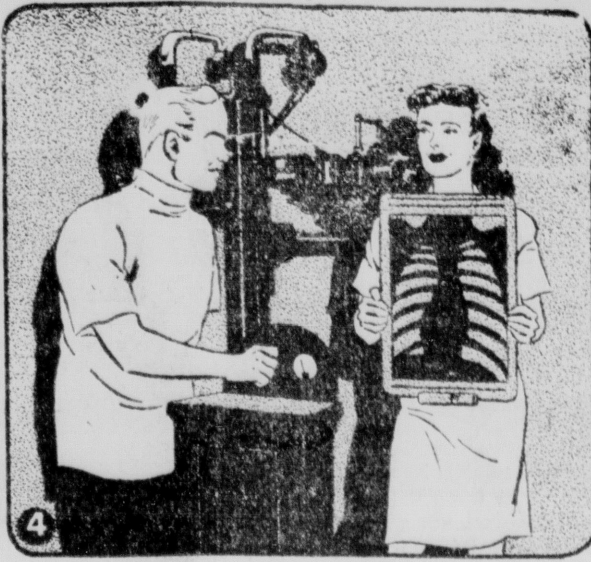

(2) Through the long Dark Ages of Europe and the Renaissance very little was added to the knowledge of the atom. Alchemists dreamed of making gold by breaking up and combining common materials. They puffed around their laboratories, mixing, boiling and distilling strange concoctions. Their work generally ended in disappointment.

(3) Then toward the end of the 18th century came the dawn of modern science. In the 19th century, great advances were made in the science of electricity, high lighted by the invention of the incandescent lamp. In chemistry the idea of the atom became well established. John Dalton, the English chemist, showed how chemical compounds are formed by the elements, such as hydrogen, oxygen, iron and copper, by the union of discrete atoms of these substances. The elements were considered to be the fundamental building materials of the universe.

(4) By 1895 chemists had done wonders with light, electricity, the chemical elements and other mechanisms of nature to produce many startling phenomena and to add to the comfort of living. To many persons of the Gay Nineties, scientists seemed to have arrived at successful formulas for every natural occurrence, such as the force of gravity, the burning of fuel, generation of electricity and the behavior of light. Then Wilhelm Konrad Roentgen in Germany startled the world with his invisible X-rays and could "see through" solid objects and make a picture of such things as the bones of the hand on a photographic plate in utter darkness.

Joe Gardner Is Speaker At Kiwanis Meet

Joe Gardner, who is particularly interested in the industrial therapy program at Warren State Hospital, was guest speaker for the luncheon-meeting of the Kiwanis Club at the Hotel Carver on Wednesday.

Developing his belief that there should be a simplified psychiatry program for the state's mentally unfit, he stated that 18 state hospitals in this state are caring for 35,000 cases, with 2,600 at the local institution. Ninety-nine per cent of these cases, he stated, have committed no crime, yet only $1 per day is allowed for their care against $1.75 allotted for care of individuals in penal institutions. The total of patients now cared for in the North Warren hospital, he remarked, has increased to 60.

All club members were invited and urged to take their families to the district meeting to be held at Conneaut Lake next Wednesday, when a new lieutenant governor for the district will be chosen.

Guests at this week's meeting were George Salsgiver, of Oil City, and Kiwanian Joseph Galbo, of Kane.

Lillian Swanson At The Conservatory

The Warren Conservatory of Music announces today that it has added to its faculty Miss Lillian Swanson, of Youngsville, who will teach here each Saturday.

Miss Swanson is not only a fine pianist but an exceptionally good teacher of piano. Her pupils have won the yearly piano contests at the Conservatory for nine years out of the twelve in which the competition has been conducted.

Early Lifting Of Controls Promised By Chief Executive

war effort cannot be liquidated overnight.
Mr. Truman expressed hope congress would follow the transitional bill with one to modernize the whole federal tax structure. This, he said, would encourage business incentives and expansion and stimulate consumer buying power. Other provisions of the point program included a request for enactment of a vast public works program and endorsement of the so called "full employment bill." Mr. Truman said he would have recommendations later for a national health program and an expanded social security program. The president renewed his request for continued drafting of men 18 through 25 for two year periods. Such inductions are necessary, he said, to supplement the voluntary recruitment program to keep occupation forces up to safe levels. The chief executive likewise reiterated an appeal for legislation to extend unemployment compensation coverage to federal workers and others not now covered and for federal contributions to provide temporary maximum weekly payments up to $25 a week for 26 weeks in every state. Point by point, the chief executive recommended:
1. Enactment of "full employment" legislation.
2. Federal emergency benefit payments to provide weekly unemployment compensation up to a maximum of $25 throughout the country.
3. Amend the fair labor standards act to substantially increase the minimum wage level of 40 cents an hour which he described as now "obsolete."
4. Extend the provisions of the second war powers act to preserve "the powers necessary" to keep the economy stabilized and "permit us to enter into the difficult period of readjustment without the threat of a disastrous price collapse." Mr. Truman added it would be necessary for the government also to resist "pressures for increases in wage rates which would imperil price ceilings."
5. Legislation making permanent the president's authority to reorganize administrative agencies "to permit him to lay out the machinery" for carrying on peacetime responsibilities. He said "executive initiative," which he suggested be subject to congressional veto, "is an effective approach to governmental reorganization."
6. Legislation previously asked creating a permanent fair employment committee to prevent employment discriminations involving race, religion and color.
7. Legislation strengthening the department of labor and giving it supervision of collective bargaining, conciliation and voluntary arbitration. The president added that the war labor board should be abolished "as soon after the conclusion of the forthcoming industry-labor conference as the orderly disposition of the work of the board and the provisions of the war labor disputes act permit, and after facilities have been provided to take care of the wage stabilization functions under the act of October 2, 1942."
8. Continuance of the employment service under federal control "at least until the expiration of the war mobilization act—June 30, 1947." He asked that the employment service appropriation for the current fiscal year be increased by $10,000,000 to help find jobs for demobilized veterans and displaced war workers.
9. Enactment of additional measures to strengthen the machinery for carrying out price support commitments to farmers and "for laying the basis for broader peacetime markets for agricultural products." He recommended that the $500,000,000 of lend-lease funds which congress set aside for farm commodity price support be made available to the commodity Credit Corporation on a continuing basis.
10. Through 25 for periods of two years, since "we cannot rely on voluntary recruitment as the sole method of procuring the necessary replacements" and it would be an "unforgivable discrimination" to suspend inductions now at the cost of requiring continued sacrifice from veterans "who have already done their part."

11. Enactment at an early date of a "broad and comprehensive housing" bill involving the cardinal principle that house construction and financing for the overwhelming majority of Americans "should be done by private enterprise." "For those low income groups, representing but a small portion of the total housing need, our prewar program of federal aid to communities for low rent housing should be resumed," the president added. He also recommended that "we quicken our rate of progress in rural housing."
12. For carrying on scientific research and development, the president asked congress to set up a single federal research agency to promote and support research in basic sciences, social sciences, medicine, public health and allied fields. This agency would aid in all projects pertaining to defense and security and make available to commerce and industry the fruits of government-financed research.
13. Enactment of the transitional tax bill which he said "must not lose sight of the budgetary situation and our obligations to $5,000,000 bondholders," he suggested that after passage of such a bill congress consider modernizing the tax structure with a view to encouraging business incentives and expansion and increasing consumer purchasing power.
14. Creation of a single surplus property administrator in place of the board of three operating under legislation enacted last year.
15. Aids to small businesses to enable them "to obtain adequate materials, private financing, technological improvements and surplus property."
16. That congress expedite legislative giving additional aid to veterans to carry over from military to civilian activities through better organization and over-all planning along the lines recommended by the veterans administration dealing with vocational readjustment, education and training. The president asked congress for legislation giving veterans social security coverage credit for the period of their service in the armed forces.
17. A public works program calling for reclamation, rivers and harbors, flood control and conservation projects, (2) construction of necessary federal buildings throughout the country; (3) the release for immediate expenditure of postwar highway spending authority voted by congress to become effective at the rate of $500,000,000 a year for each of the first three post-war years; (4) appropriation of $25,000,000 to continue the construction of the inter-American highway through central America to the canal zone; (5) the construction of 8,000 new airports and the improvement of 1,500 others; (6) grants to state and local governments for public works and (7) the provision of federal grants for the construction of hospital and health centers.
18. To take up where lend-lease leaves off, the president recommended (A) repeal of the Johnson act barring private loans to nations in default on previous lending. (B) appropriation of the remaining $550,000,000 authorized by congress for United States participation in UNRRA and a commitment of $1,350,000,000 recommended as the United States' additional share by the recent UNRRA council meeting. The president foresaw the need also for additional interim lending power to insure "a rapid and successful transition to peacetime world trade" and said that appropriate recommendations would be made later "when we have completed the exploratory conversions already begun with our associates."
19. The president recommended that congress take early steps to increase the salaries of its members from $10,000 to $20,000 per year.
"There is no doubt in the mind of any thinking American that members of the congress are grossly underpaid and have been for many years," the president said. "I think that they are entitled and have already so expressed myself—to a salary anywhere from $15,000 to $20,000 a year. I recommend that the congress enact legislation that the salaries be increased to $20,000 per year." At the same time he recommended repeal of legislation under which members of the house now receive an additional expense allowance of $2,500 a year. He also recommended that congress "provide decent wage scales" for the executive and judicial branches of the government, asserting the most important impediment to obtaining efficient administration in government "has been the pitiful wage scale."
20. Prompt resumption of the normal operation of the merchant marine to re-establish the nation's foreign trade with legislation to permit the maritime commission to sell ships at home and abroad for private operation.
21. Enactment of legislation for the acquisition and retention of stockpiles and materials necessary to the national defense.
The president said he soon would ask congress for a national health program to provide "adequate medical care for all Americans and to protect them from financial loss and hardships resulting from illness and accident."
He also promised a communication with respect to "expanding our social security system, and improving our program of education for our citizens."
"In this hour of victory over our enemies abroad," the president concluded, "let us now resolve to use all our efforts and energies to build a better life here at home and a better world for generations to come."
"The congress has played its full part in shaping the domestic and foreign policies which have won this victory and started us on the road to lasting peace."
"The congress, I know, will continue to play its patriotic part in the difficult years ahead, we face the future together with confidence—that the job, can and will be done."

19,504 Fans Honor Immortal Honus Wagner At Pittsburgh

By ELAINE KAHN

Pittsburgh, Sept. 6.—(P)—The old Flying Dutchman, 71-year-old Honus Wagner, looked back on 50 years in baseball and observed that the game, "like the radio and refrigerator, is full of improvements."

"Ball players used to have to be wrestlers and prize fighters," the Pittsburgh Pirate coach declared. "But they're a lot of gentlemen now."

They honored the grizzled, bow-legged veteran with a special "night" yesterday. There was a telegram from National League President Ford Frick, congratulating "the greatest shortstop of them all," and a rousing ovation from the 19,504 fans.

Part of the game's proceeds, expected to total about $10,000.

St. Joe's Takes 'YM' - Church Softball Title

St. Joe's Nick Russo hit top form last night at Beatty Field as his mates walloped the Grace Methodists, 10-0, to top the 1945 YMCA-Church loop title, their second straight. The Catholics recorded 10 hits while the losers managed only two. Pitcher Russo struck out seven batters during the contest.

The Methodists committed five blunders in the early part of the game, allowing four runs to score. In the first inning, Harrington misjudged a fly in shortcenter and two runners tallied after the error. In the second, Jewell made a bad peg to second after two runs had scored and a third raced home, making it 5-0.

Not until the fifth frame did the Catholics score again. With two outs, Russo scored after doubling and Knupp followed on Anthony's error in left field. Font hit a hot grounder to second base which went through Summers' legs, allowing Ritchie to tally the eighth run.

Font singled in the ninth, went home on Gheres' double with the ninth score. Chuck Denardi sent Gheres home on another two-bagger. The Catholics can now claim the title after losing the first game, 10-8, but coming back to top the second game, 4-0, and the third, 10-0.

Interest Aroused For Athletic Club

Several days ago, the Sports Department of the Times-Mirror was asked to inquire through its subscribers as to current interest in an active Athletic Association, whose purpose would be to house and sponsor members and teams in football, baseball, basketball, mushball and other sports.

Several very active younger sportsmen in the community have brought the suggestion to a point and desire the response of Warren and surrounding community residents. The club would have modern clubrooms and facilities and not only would it serve sportsmen here at present, but would be an excellent opportunity for returning G. I.'s to get back into athletics once again. It would enable sports in Warren to be revived, giving this town once again the name of "sports" as it had years ago.

If you are interested in such an association, would you please mail your desire to enter the organization and any suggestions which you have to: Sports Department, Times-Mirror, Warren, Pa. Please sign all letters.

ACCUSED

I've been accused of being a "Yes Man" . . . and come to think of it—I am! That is, I like to say "Yes" when people ask for a loan. Which is only logical, after all, for the more times I say "Yes" the more loans I make. And since making Personal Loans is my full-time business, that's mighty important to me.

*Usually I can say "Yes" in a hurry. But even when circumstances are unusual, I try to find a way to work out a deal. That's why Personal is so often able to make loans that others cannot.

*Of course—once in a while I can't find a way. That's natural. When that happens, I personally sit down with the customer in a private office and discuss the situation frankly, on a common sense basis.

Like most people, I don't believe in unnecessary borrowing . . . but when a loan is needed or to your advantage, I'll be glad to say "Yes". Anytime you need extra cash—see me, won't you? Right now, for instance. See me at Personal Finance Co., 216 Liberty St., second floor, over Lester Shoe Store. Phone 235.

Townships to Get State Road Funds

Age of township roads in all of the townships of the second class in the Commonwealth as of January 1, 1944. Payments are made quarterly, provided funds previously made available to the township supervisors have been used up.

For Warren county the payments total $10,425.70. The townships receiving the funds, and the amount each will receive, are: Brokenstraw, $924.47; Cherry Grove, $62.62; Columbus, $1032.56; Conewango, $660.84; Corydon, $79.13; Deerfield, $405.30; Farmington, $941.46; Freehold, $895.59; Glade, $333.33; Kinzua, $98.49; Limestone, $185.28; Pine Grove, $567.81; Pittsfield, $556.81; Pleasant, $279.55; Sheffield, $236.81; Southwest, $542.33; Spring Creek, $986.23; Sugar Grove, $1127.12; Triumph, $503.73.

The money comes from a $7,000,000 appropriation out of the Motor Vehicle Fund to the State Department of Highways for the 1944-45 biennium. It is allocated on the basis of the ratio which the mileage of township roads in each township bears to the total mileage of township roads in the state.

Navy Stages Big Drive For Enlistments

Navy Recruiting Stations all over the country are initiating an all out drive for voluntary enlistments, particularly in the Regular Navy, among men in the age group of 17 to 30 inclusive, who are now eligible by Executive Order of President Truman. This order lifts the ban against voluntary enlistments in draft ages.

The Navy's recruiting drive is designed to speed demobilization of men with long war service, to reduce the Navy's calls through Selective Service and at the same time to enable the Navy to fulfill its extensive responsibilities through the transition period and beyond.

During August, despite the ban on recruiting men between the draft ages of 18 and 37 inclusive, the Navy enlisted more than 16,000 men in the 17-year age group, with parental consent. Of this number 6,300 joined the Regular Navy and the balance entered the Naval Reserve.

Now that the bars are raised permitting the Armed Services to reach into the draft age group for voluntary enlistments the Navy is endeavoring at least to triple the August figures in coming months.

Men who have not been in uniform as well as those recently discharged through the Army and Navy demobilization plan are sought through the recruiting drive. Navy spokesmen announced that already a number of World War II veterans are signing up for the Regular Navy. It is anticipated that this number will greatly increase as the demobilization program progresses. Navy officials point out that such further service is solely a matter of voluntary action on the part of those who want to follow the Navy as a peacetime career. Many veterans have embraced this opportunity after spending long awaited furloughs and leaves at home.

The term of enlistment in the Regular Navy is now reduced from six years to four. Physical standards are lowered in the light of war experience. Men changing to the Regular Navy from the Naval Reserve and men reenlisting in the Regular Navy not only retain their rights to mustering out pay, but also are entitled to full credit for past active duty, a special cash reenlistment bonus, and up to sixty days' leave at home.

Postwar Problems for President and Congress

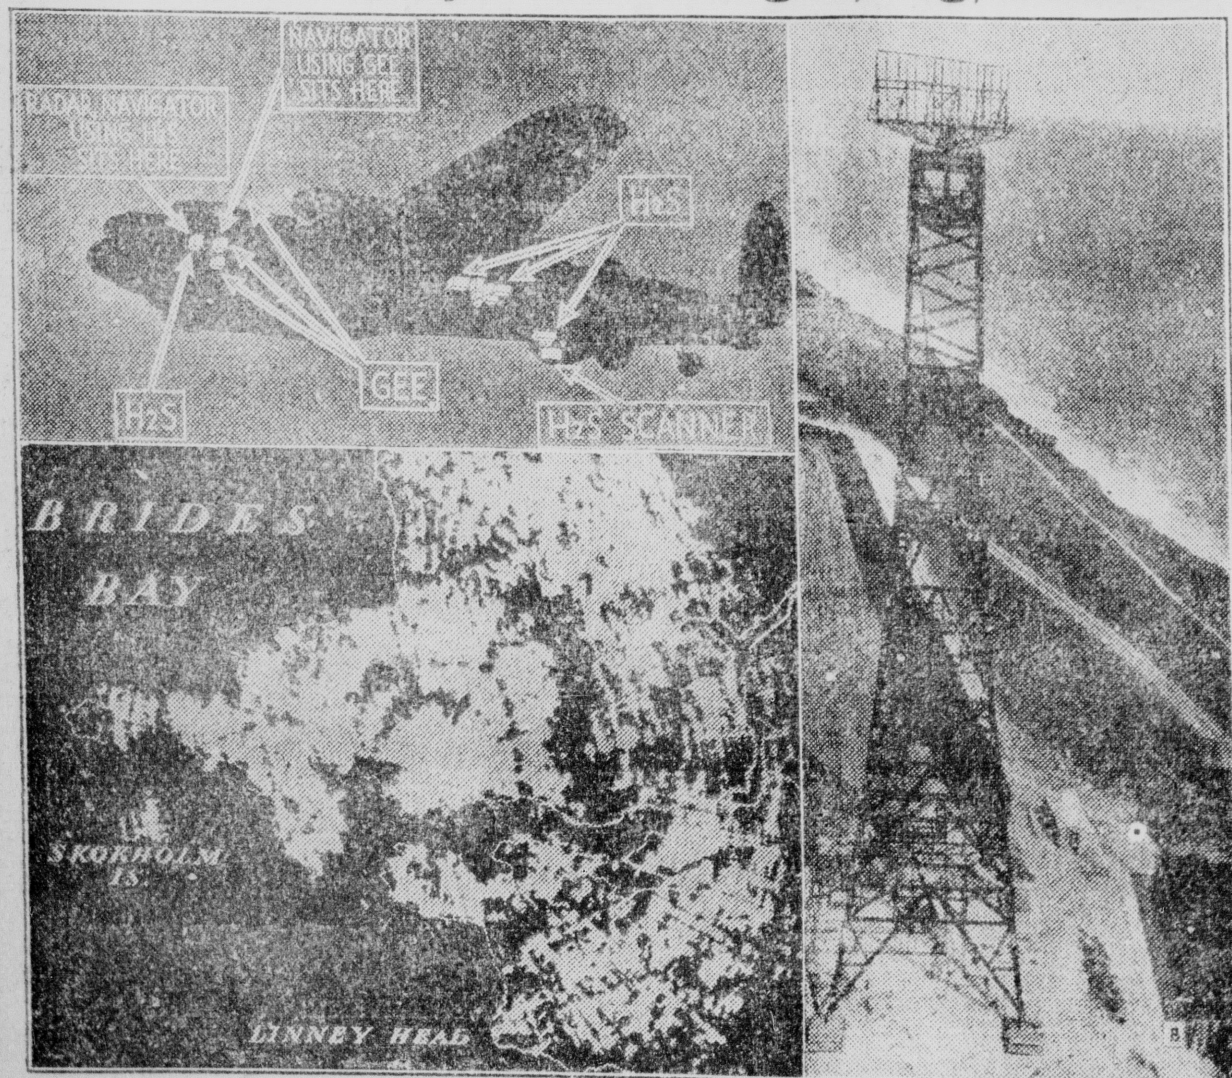

Illustrated above are some of the major headaches facing President Truman and Congress. Of first interest to everyone is the unemployment situation. Millions of servicemen are being discharged and millions of workers released from war plants. Full employment, unemployment compensation, job-making public works and similar measures contain dynamite for many a congressional fight. Another headache is how best to dispose of the millions of dollars worth of industrial plants, built in wartime, by selling or leasing to producers. Many draftees now resent being taken into the Army. Congress may order a 30-day "draft holiday." That eternal headache, taxes, becomes a migraine case, as citizens look for postwar tax reduction. President and Congress must decide how much, and who benefits—the little fellow or the big taxpayer. With the services anxious to keep a large Army and Navy for defense, and millions of servicemen with just one desire—to get home as quickly as possible—démobilization is another prime problem.

Ruins of Tokyo After Aerial Bombardment

Radar—Electric Eye Pierces Night, Fog, Distance

ANOTHER AMAZING SCIENTIFIC WAR SECRET, of untold value in peacetime, can now be told. This is radar, which at the time of Munich was already secretly surrounding Britain with a curtain of electric waves thru which no enemy plane could approach undetected. Britain had the world's first radar defense system and, in the summer of 1940, this combined with the Spitfires and Hurricanes to enable the gallant handful of R.A.F. fighter pilots to win the Battle of Britain against enormous numerical odds. The drawing at the upper left shows how giant R.A.F. Lancaster bombers are guided from base to their targets by the "Gee" system and then their "H2S" enables the crew to "see" the ground. The photograph at lower left shows what the crew see on their H2S cathode-ray tube even at night or in fog: it is a radar map on which the only additions made are thin outlines for the coastline and, of course, the names. At the right is shown one of the radar stations on the coast of Britain where they were in operation a year before the outbreak of the European war.

Chief Events of Historic Week

Important events of an historic week in the Pacific, including the occupation of the Tokyo area of Japan by Allied forces under the command of Gen. Douglas MacArthur, are indicated on map above.

Tokyo Rose

American-born of Japanese parents, Iva (Ikuo) Toguri, above, is one of five young women reported to be "Tokyo Rose," who broadcast Jap propaganda to Allied troops. She is pictured in the cap and gown she wore when she was graduated in 1940 from the University of California at Los Angeles, where she was described as only slightly above average as a student. She was born, ironically, on July 4, 1914, in Los Angeles.

Italy's Choice

Election of Count Carlo Sforza, above, as president of the Consultative Assembly in Italy, which holds its first session Sept. 19, reportedly was assured when all political parties endorsed him. A strong anti-Fascist, he was long an exile in the U. S.

Mac's Liaison

Ken Tsurumi, above, counselor in Jap diplomatic service and formerly consul in Los Angeles, has been named chief liaison officer with General MacArthur's forces in Japan.

Nabbed at Last

One of the last of Hitler's henchmen to be taken by the Allies is Martin Bormann, above, chief deputy of the Nazi Party, listed as one of the most-wanted major war criminals. Bormann rose to power as Hitler's right-hand man after the disappearance of Rudolph Hess in 1941. He'll be an early defendant at the Nuremberg trials.

A REPORT

Here's how the Telephone situation in Pennsylvania shapes up Today

MORE THAN 129,000 PEOPLE (the total is close to 2,000,000 in the United States) are now on our waiting lists for telephone service. Of these, about one-third are waiting because of shortages of telephone instruments, and the remainder are waiting because new central office equipment—switchboards and dial mechanisms—and wire and cable are needed.

You see, there are three shortages—telephones, switchboards, wire. Some towns are short in all three; some are short in two; all need telephone instruments.

Specifically, 277 of the 461 central offices in our territory simply do not have the facilities—switchboards and dial equipment—necessary to serve all the applicants for telephone service.

And again, it will be necessary to install nearly 400,000 miles of wire in cable to connect telephones with our central offices, before we can give service to all those on our waiting lists.

***

But the Bell organization is not marking time, and every month will bring us closer to our goal. Production goes on even while reconversion is under way.

Western Electric, source of supply for the Bell system, is now turning out telephone instruments at a rate that is increasing each month . . . and out of the national pool, Pennsylvania's share will be 8,000 in September—50,000 by the end of the year. It could, and might, be more.

SO FAR AS TELEPHONE INSTRUMENTS ARE CONCERNED, WE WILL BE SUBSTANTIALLY IN THE CLEAR BY THE END OF 1945.

Installation of new equipment is already scheduled for 146 central offices.

Installation of wire and cable will step up as equipment is manufactured and as more and more telephone men come back from the war to their jobs.

In short, right now things are moving. Already the waiting lists are going down. There are fewer names on those lists today than there were at the peak, on June 30.

And in the next 12 months, Western Electric expects to employ more people and produce more equipment than in any peace-time year.

***

So that's how the telephone situation in Pennsylvania shapes up today. Transition from war to peace is a big job. But we're used to big jobs, and we know the importance of this one.

The job will be done, you may count on it, in a big way.

TRUMAN LAYS DOWN 21-POINT LEGISLATIVE PROGRAM

Early Lifting Of Controls Promised By Chief Executive

Long Message to Congress Today Cautions That Overall Abandonment of Restrictions Would Pave Way for "Bottlenecks"

WARNING EASED WITH CONFIDENCE EXPRESSION

Washington, Sept. 6.—(P)—President Truman called upon congress today to keep his war powers in force for the reconversion "emergency" as he laid down a 21-point legislative program. It included "limited" tax cuts next year and proposals to achieve full employment.

Mr. Truman told the legislators, assembled for their first peacetime session in four years, that the war will not be over on the home front until its economic impacts have been eased.

Hence, he said, proposals to abolish wartime controls by declaring the war officially at an end would lead to "great confusion and chaos in government."

The 16,000-word message, which Mr. Truman sent to Capitol Hill, promised a lifting of controls, one by one, as fast as possible. But it cautioned that their overall abandonment would leave the chief executive powerless to prevent "bottlenecks, shortages of material and inflation."

"The time has not yet arrived," the president asserted, "for the proclamation of the cessation of the hostilities, much less the termination of the war. Needless to say, such proclamations will be made as soon as circumstances permit."

Tempering his warnings with expressions of confidence, Mr. Truman declared that prompt and vigorous congressional and administrative teamwork can usher in an era of unprecedented prosperity.

"A vast backlog of orders may soon make possible the greatest peacetime industrial activity that we have ever seen," the president said, adding at another point: "In this hour of victory over our enemies abroad, let us resolve now to use all our efforts and energies to build a better life here at home and better world for generations to come."

Recommending immediate enactment of a transition revenue bill to provide "limited tax reductions" for the calendar year 1946, Mr. Truman stressed that the reductions should aim principally "at removing barriers to speedy reconversion and to expansion of our peacetime economy."

He emphasized that the $66,000,000,000 the government expects to spend during this fiscal year will exceed anticipated revenue by $30,000,000,000 and added: "We must reconcile ourselves to the fact that room for tax reduction at this time is limited. A total (Turn to Page Seven)

Probe Into Pearl Harbor Demanded

BULLETIN
Washington, Sept. 6.—(P)—The senate voted unanimously today for a joint congressional inquiry into the Pearl Harbor disaster.

Washington, Sept. 6.—(P)—With President Truman's approval, Democratic Leader Barkley (Ky.) proposed in the senate today a joint congressional inquiry into the Pearl Harbor disaster.

Barkley introduced a resolution calling for a report to congress by a senate house committee not later than next January 3.

In offering the bill, the Democratic leader said: "I may say that I offer this resolution with the full knowledge and approval of the president of the United States, and I express the earnest hope, which he shares, that the two houses may promptly agree to it, that the investigation may proceed forthwith, and that the congress and the country may expect a full report within the time designated."

Barkley's action apparently assured a congressional investigation of the circumstances surrounding the Japanese sneak attack.

House Republican Leader Joseph W. Martin of Massachusetts called for "a full and impartial investigation" as the senate Republican steering committee backed legislation to set up a 14-member senate-house committee to make the inquiry.

"We're going to press for an independent investigation that will give the people all the facts," Martin said in an interview. "We believe that the people are entitled to know the whole truth about the Pearl Harbor disaster."

He added that he did not believe the recent reports of army and navy boards on what happened at Pearl Harbor, Dec. 7, 1941, cleared the atmosphere.

The adventure began last Jan. 13 when the crew flew a routine patrol for fleet airwing 17 of the 11th fleet over Brunau area of the Philippines. Over an airfield the Liberator ran into four enemy fighter planes. It shot down one, but two of the Liberator's engines were knocked out and it was forced down in the heart of enemy territory.

The navy related the story today. The three, who had been reported missing in action, are Lt. (JG) Robert J. Graham, Rosemont, Pa.; Reuben L. Robbins, aviation chief machinist's mate, Omaha, Wash.; and James R. Shepherd, aviation machinist mate 2nd class, San Diego, Calif.

Six other members of the crew of their four-engine Liberator patrol bomber failed to survive the ordeal. Their names were not made known.

The adventure began last Jan. 13 when the crew flew a routine patrol for fleet airwing 17 of the 11th fleet over Brunau area of the Philippines. Over an airfield the Liberator ran into four enemy fighter planes. It shot down one, but two of the Liberator's engines were knocked out and it was forced down in the heart of enemy territory.

The navy related the story today. The three, who had been reported missing in action, are Lt. (JG) Robert J. Graham, Rosemont, Pa.; Reuben L. Robbins, aviation chief machinist's mate, Omaha, Wash.; and James R. Shepherd, aviation machinist mate 2nd class, San Diego, Calif.

Six other members of the crew of their four-engine Liberator patrol bomber failed to survive the ordeal. Their names were not made known.

ENVOY DENIES HE WAS USED AS TRAP BAIT

Special Jap Ambassador Confirms He Knew Nothing of Plans Raid On Pearl Harbor

"WORKED FOR PEACE"

San Francisco, Sept. 6.—(P)—Saburo Kurosu, Japanese special envoy who was discussing peace in Washington at the moment of the sneak attack on Pearl Harbor, was quoted today as contending that he knew nothing of the raid plans and was "deeply hurt" by the American accusation that he was bait for the trap.

Frederick C. Oppen, American Broadcasting Company correspondent, also quoted Kurosu as reiterating:

"I did not know anything about the attack on Pearl Harbor before I left Tokyo. As a matter of fact, I found Prime Minister Tojo more optimistic about chances for peace than I was. I told him I thought things were very precarious in the Pacific and when I met President Roosevelt a little later I told him the same thing—that a single spark could start war in the Pacific."

Oppen, who related in a broadcast from Yokohama that he interviewed Kurosu at his home seven hours by train out of Tokyo, said the envoy told him that on Dec. 7, 1941, his appointment with Secretary Hull was delayed by the slow decoding to a long message from Tokyo.

When he met Hull, he received the secretary's now-famous tongue lashing and then returned to the Japanese embassy and learned about Pearl Harbor from the radio, he asserted.

Kurosu said he was confident that the Japanese ambassador to Washington, Adm. Kichisaburo Nomura, also was ignorant of Pearl Harbor plans.

"What hurts me is to be called treacherous and double-crossing by Americans. I have worked hard for peace," Kurosu said.

"Now, in this war, I have lost everything—my reputation, my home, my only son. Let no one think I like war."

Oppen said Kurosu told him his home had been burned down in a B-29 raid and his son, a captain in the Japanese air force, had been killed in a fight over Tokyo.

Death Claims Federal Judge Schoonmaker

Pittsburgh, Sept. 6.—(P)—Federal Judge Frederick Palen Schoonmaker of the Western Pennsylvania district court died last night at the home of his daughter in South Norwalk, Conn., relatives here said today. He was 75.

The jurist was named to his post by President Harding on December 20, 1922, and sworn in a month later.

Judge Schoonmaker, in ill health, left three weeks ago for New England but associates here said his condition improved and news of his death came unexpectedly following a heart attack. He was visiting at the home of Mrs. W. G. Blasdel, his daughter.

About 30 years ago, Schoonmaker left a job as a practicing lawyer in northwestern Pennsylvania and became a veteran of the Mexican border campaign of 1916, then went to France with the 120th Regiment in 1917 and saw service in many notable engagements.

He was at Chateau Thierry, Argonne Forest in the Vosges and at Metz in World War I.

Judge Schoonmaker was born at Limestone, Cattaraugus county, N. Y., and attended Alfred University, the University of Minnesota and Cornell. He read law under Judge James Schoonmaker of St. Paul and Col. W. W. Brown of Bradford.

Casualty Wheel Spins In Reverse

Washington, Sept. 6.—(P)—The men who came back today gave America's war casualty wheel another spin in reverse.

By today's official count, 3,485 missing army men who never had been listed as prisoners because nobody knew what happened to them, were removed from the missing rolls and restored to the liberated living.

An increase of 604 belated navy casualty reports offset this figure somewhat, however, and left the armed forces' combat casualty total for the war standing at 1,070,452. This was 93 less than last week's figure, and additional reports are yet to come.

Last week's total, marking the first reduction since the war started, was 274 below the previous week's.

Total casualties for the army now stand at 922,587, and for the navy 147,965.

Death Follows "Faith Demonstration"

Lewis E. Ford, left, is shown as he placed a rattle on the neck of an unidentified worshiper during a recent "demonstration of faith" near Daisy, Tenn. Ford himself died of snake bite a few days after the picture was made.

Norton, Va., Sept. 6.—(P)—The Rev. Harvey O. Kirk, of nearby Ramsey, Va., was arrested late last night on a charge of manslaughter in connection with the death of his wife, Anna, who died Monday after she was bitten by a rattlesnake at religious demon charges alleging they "unlawfully and feloniously" brought poisonous snakes to a religious demonstration of Stone Creek Saturday and allowed them to be turned loose among spectators and sect members and that one of the snakes bit Mrs. Kirk, causing her death. The 26-year-old woman died six hours after her baby was born prematurely.

Eleven Jurors Are Seated To Hear McKinney Murder Trial

When court recessed this noon there were eleven jurors seated in the jury box to hear the testimony and weigh the evidence in the case of the Commonwealth vs. Adaline McKinney on a charge of murder. Mrs. McKinney this morning looked somewhat wan and tired from her days in court and the strain is evidently affecting her to some extent.

Seated in the jury box today are five women and six men. In all, fourteen jurors will be drawn. This is arranged under an act of the Pennsylvania state legislature and provides a complete jury should one or two members become sick.

Those seated are: Blanch Borchers, Warren; Mrs. Viola Putnam, Russell; William G. Cable, Warren; Virgil Kittner, Warren; Cecil Bates, Columbus township; Luther Anderson, Scandia; Josephine Carlson, Warren; Edwin Weller, Sheffield township; Clarence Hendrickson, Warren and Helen Buckingham, Tidoute; Mrs. Ruth Thompson, Warren. The jurors are quartered at the Carver House, in charge of the Constables of the County.

There were sixteen prospective jurors examined this morning and the usual test questions were asked by the attorneys. Most of those who were presented today for examination had formed fixed opinions in the case after reading newspaper accounts of the case.

One juror this morning drew a laugh from the spectators when he was asked: "Betts, how many children have you?" Frank L. Betts, of Columbus township, answered "Four." "Their ages?" And then came the reply "20, 18 and 17."

Still Taking Testimony In Erie Case

Erie, Sept. 6.—(P)—Investigation of matrons of two Erie county juvenile institutions was urged today by the September grand jury in its final report. The report asked an investigation of Ruth Barnett, matron of the county detention home, and Mrs. R. Chambers, matron of the Sunnyside Home for Girls, "as to their ability in understanding children."

Witnesses for the commonwealth occupied the stand most of the time yesterday, although both defendants testified.

Attorney Elmer D. Loose said he would base the defense principally "on the terrifically bad background of those boys." He added he would not make an insanity plea, but would stress psychology, psychiatry, and "the mental attitude at the time of the killing."

District Attorney Burton R. Laub reiterated a previous statement that he would ask the death penalty.

In the morning session a precedent was set by the admission of recordings of statements allegedly given by the accused at Erie state police barracks. Later, signed statements were read from the stand by State Police Sgt. William Schauer of Erie and Pvt. William Fink, Williamsport.

Cpl. Bernard J. Martin, officer in charge of identification for the state police, testified that a live thumb print on the handle of the turtle-bite of Campbell's car was identical to West's.

Washington, Sept. 6.—(P)—The war department has decided to send to the Pacific only three of six combat divisions alerted to go.

Acting upon the recommendation of Gen. Douglas MacArthur, the department cancelled redeployment orders for the 2nd, 8th and 95th infantry divisions.

The 88th and 97th Infantry Divisions and the 13th Airborne Division still will be redeployed. The infantry units are at sea en route to Japan. Members of the 13th are on furlough and will assemble early in October at Fort Bragg, N. C.

All of the enlisted men in the 13th with 45 discharge points as of May 12, those 37 years of age and those 34 to 36 inclusive with a year of service will be screened out before departure.

Historic Flag to be Raised Over Tokyo by MacArthur When He Enters City Friday

First Cavalry Estimated At 15,000 Men and Number Of Service Units To Move In

Yokohama, Sept. 6.—(P)—The First American reconnaissance patrols entered Tokyo today to arrange for the formal entry of First Cavalry troops and General MacArthur Saturday (Friday U. S. time). A small detachment of the 11th Corps' First Cavalry surveyed the heavily damaged capital, where MacArthur will raise the American flag in front of the U. S. embassy Saturday.

By MURLIN SPENCER

Yokohama, Sept. 6.—(P)—General MacArthur, announcing he would enter Tokyo Saturday (Friday afternoon U. S. time) with the first occupation forces, said today that by mid-October 7,000,000 Japanese troops would have been disarmed—the greatest force ever to capitulate in the history of warfare.

Approximately 3,000,000 of these forces are in the home islands and will be sent to their homes, he said. The other 4,000,000 are in outlying Pacific areas.

From 300,000 to 400,000 American soldiers will occupy the home islands and Korea, he added. (Radio reports said this would leave an estimated 120,000 other Americans now in the Pacific free to go home.)

As MacArthur reaches Tokyo Saturday, he will raise over the American embassy the flag that flew in Washington December 7, 1941, and later over Casablanca, Rome, Berlin and the battleship Missouri in Tokyo Bay.

Gen. Hitoshi Inamura surrendered today the 139,000 Japanese forces long since bypassed in Rabaul, New Ireland, the other Solomon Islands and New Guinea. He signed their final capitulation aboard the British aircraft carrier Glory, and handed over his sword to Lt. Gen. V. A. H. Sturdee, commanding the First Australian Army Corps.

Service units and general headquarters personnel will move into the heart of the capital with the cavalrymen Saturday at 6 a. m. (5 p. m. Friday, eastern war time), Domei reported.

Eighth Army headquarters will remain temporarily at Yokohama. Tokyo newspapers, meanwhile, disclosed that a virtual revolt against Japanese rule had occurred in Keijo, Korea, in mid-August, and reported the release of 20,000 political prisoners in Korea—controlled by Japan for 34 years. It was the first acknowledgement to Japanese at home that any Koreans had been held as political prisoners.

Augmenting of both Tokyo and Yokohama civilian police by addition of carefully selected members of the former Kimpai-Tai, Japan's secret police, was announced by U. S. Eighth army headquarters.

Only a few of these new recruits will be armed, headquarters said, although all are empowered to arrest Japanese civilians.

A Domei broadcast estimated at 8,000 the strength of U. S. First Cavalry Division units which are to move into 40 of Tokyo's 200 square miles Saturday, and said additional troops also were expected in the Tachikawa area on Friday. There already are 4,000 Americans in this zone, northwest of Tokyo.

Eighth Army headquarters announced that its forces now had released 27 per cent of all Allied prisoners known to have held in its occupation zone, northern Honshu. The total in all areas of Honshu reached 3,996.

GEN. EISENHOWER IS GREETED IN BRUSSELS

Brussels, Sept. 6.—(P)—Gen. Eisenhower arrived by train in Brussels today to receive the freedom of the city and met a rousing welcome.

He inspected a Belgian guard of honor lined up on the platform at the Gare Du Midi. With him was Col. John Sherman, chief of the U. S. mission to Belgium. Later he was received by Burgomaster Hansse of Saint Gilles.

Before the general entered his car outside the station two young Belgian girls rushed up and kissed on both cheeks. A crowd of several thousand outside the station shouted "Vive Eisenhower."

Let's fill the army of occupation with men deferred as 4-F or as war workers.

"Every man with overseas stripes should be discharged," Bates told a reporter. "Why can't some of the 3,000,000 deferred since the draft began be put in uniform now? Many of these were turned down earlier for minor physical disabilities which wouldn't prevent them from serving in a police force abroad."

Washington, Sept. 6.—(P)—Rep. Joe Bates (D-Ky.) makes this suggestion:

Let's fill the army of occupation with men deferred as 4-F or as war workers.

Let's fill the army of occupation with men deferred as 4-F or as war workers.

Let's fill the army of occupation with men deferred as 4-F or as war workers.

Let's fill the army of occupation with men deferred as 4-F or as war workers.

Let's fill the army of occupation with men deferred as 4-F or as war workers.

REPARATIONS FOR U. S. TO BE MEAGRE

America's Eventual Recompense From Enemy To Be About Five Per Cent Of Soviet Union

ASSETS ARE CACHED

By DANIEL DE LUCE

Berlin, Sept. 6.—(P)—The American share of German reparations, it was predicted by financial experts today, is likely to be the smallest of any of the four occupying powers.

The Americans' eventual recompense from the defeated enemy is expected to be about five per cent of that of the Soviet Union, about one-half of Britain's and somewhat less than that of France, despite an intensive search by United States agents for a treasure trove of concealed German assets abroad estimated at slightly over one billion dollars.

The first major United States proposal before the Allied control council is a decree which would vest ownership of all Germany's external property in the council. This is deemed necessary before direct action can be taken to seize German assets in neutral countries. The decree is still under discussion.

According to preliminary American estimates, the Germans have cached assets of $989,667,000 among five neutrals. Switzerland is believed to have $600,000,000. The remainder is distributed among Argentina, Spain, Portugal and Turkey.

In addition, possibly another $100,000,000 is secreted in Sweden. All machinations known to high and low finance were used by Nazi capitalists to hide the trail of the wealth they sent abroad. A simplified example is an account opened under a Swiss name in a Swiss bank, transferred to a Dutch bank, retransferred to a Swedish bank and ultimately placed in either the United States or Britain.

The handling of commercial stocks make much more baffling problems for investigation.

American interest in uncovering all of Germany's foreign holdings is acute because these offer what is described by financial experts as "about the only feasible form in which we can get some real reparations."

Unlike the other Allies, the United States shows little desire to obtain physical resources from Germany.

Find Remains Of Missing Waitress

Fayette City, Sept. 6.—(P)—State police reported today they had found the body of 17-year-old Anna Elizabeth Dreyer, pretty red-haired waitress who disappeared last Saturday morning.

The report came from Corp. Charles De Witt, in a message to the state police station at Belle Vernon.

He said the body was found near the intersection of Routes 51 and 711, on the road to Connellsville. No details were given.

Many searchers had been out looking for her.

Meantime, police sought two youths for questioning. The police teletype request stated the two were believed in Pittsburgh.

The girl was reported last seen at 2:20 a. m. Saturday when a friend drove her from the restaurant in Monessen, where she was employed. A purse and pieces of a girl's clothing, said by state police to be Miss Dreyer's, was found later in a woods.

President In Favor Of A Raise for Representatives

Washington, Sept. 6.—(P)—President Truman told congress today it ought to give itself "a straight, out-and-out salary increase."

He suggested a salary of $20,000 a year. That's exactly twice the present pay.

At the same time Mr. Truman recommended repeal of the legislation by which the house earlier this year gave each of its members an additional expense allowance of $2,500 a year. (The senate rejected the proposal.)

There is no doubt in the mind of any thinking American, Mr. Truman said in a message to congress, "that members of congress are grossly underpaid and have been for many years."

He recommended also "an adequate retirement system" for members of congress and said that more pay for them "should be the first step in creating a decent salary scale for all federal government employees—executive, legislative and judicial."

Congress' last raise came in 1925. That year it boosted salaries of its members from $7,500 to $10,000. Prior to 1907 the salary was $5,000.

Enrollments In Schools Total 2,686

Figures released this morning by Superintendent John G. Rossman reveal an upward swing in Warren borough school enrollments for the opening day of the fall term. Final figures for Wednesday show a total registration of 2,686. Compared with 1944 registrations of 2,667, a net gain of 19 students is shown.

Figures by buildings, reported to the office of superintendent, show these students for 1945 and 1944 respectively: East, 217-214; Home, 119-112; Johnson, 256-263; Lacy, 232-227; McClintock, 132-126; Seneca, 45-39; South, 209-211; Beaty, 651-653; high school, 825-823.

On a basis of estimates made at the completion of the 1944 term of public school, an even greater gain had been anticipated.

Men and Women In the Service

Major DeVore Resigns His CAP Position

Lt. Col. Arthur J. Hyde and Major E. J. DeVore have just announced their resignations as commander and executive officer, respectively, of the Maryland Wing of the Civil Air Patrol. Both have held their positions since the organization of the Civil Air Patrol before Pearl Harbor and have capably led the Maryland Wing through the war years.

Major DeVore is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry DeVore, of Tidoute. His Civil Air Patrol duties have been carried on in his spare time from his regular position as circulation manager of the Washington Star. In addition to his duties as executive officer, he flew on the coastal patrol at Atlantic City when the Civil Air Patrol was doing such a remarkable job in helping the army to guard the coast lines by spotting submarines. He also flew on tow target and tracking missions from Langley Field in Virginia and Bolling Field in Washington, D. C., as well as being responsible for assigning all the pilots from Maryland and the District of Columbia to these missions.

Major DeVore has been actively interested in flying for the past seventeen years and is a member of the Washington Hangar of Q. B., an organization composed of the most of the early pilots of the United States. He is the 1942 recipient of the National Air Derby Association trophy given to the man who has done the most for the promotion of private flying in the Washington area.

Sgt. Jones Is Given Cluster

Mrs. Wilbur N. Jones, 103 St. Clair street, has received word that her husband has been awarded the Oak Leaf Cluster to the Bronze Star Medal for valorous conduct in action against the enemy.

From headquarters of the Third Infantry Division, she has received the following copy of the citation accompanying the decoration: "Wilbur N. Jones, Staff Sergeant, Infantry, Company H, 7th Infantry Regiment, for valorous conduct in action against the enemy. On 16 April 1945, when his heavy machine gun section encountered intense enemy machine gun fire, at 200 yard range, as it advanced toward Neunhof, Germany, Staff Sergeant Jones halted his men and ran forward about 75 yards on a reconnaissance. Although the hostile force concentrated its fire on him, he returned over the flat field, and led his section into positions he selected. Then, for over ten minutes, he remained exposed, directing his men's fire, which soon killed the 2-man crew of one gun and enabled riflemen to outflank another and capture 6 Germans. (Signed) W. T. Sexton, Brigadier General, U. S. Army, Commanding."

MAKING THE WORLD SAFE FOR DEMOCRACY

With heavy heartburnings and some tears, the mikado's representatives have formalized Japan's capitulation only four months after her German partner in crime surrendered. And thus, as Marshal Stalin tells his people, "now we can say that conditions necessary for the peace of the world have already been won."

That is, the Axis brigands are knocked out militarily and the next step in world reformation is possible. U. S. Secretary of State Byrnes sums up that step this way:

"So we come to the second phase of our war against Japan—what might be called the spiritual disarmament of the people of that nation—to make them want peace instead of war. x x x To bring about the spiritual disarmament of the Japanese we intend to remove all obstacles, such as oppressive laws and practices, which in the past have closed the door to truth and have stifled the free development of democracy in Japan. We shall have eliminated the ultra nationalistic and totalitarian teachings, in the schools and among the people, which in the past have made the people accept the militaristic philosophy of the war lords."

That's a tall order—and much the same thing holds true, of course, regarding Germany. The reform of these aggressor nations means hard and long toil for the Allies. It calls for great sacrifice on our part, for we must continue military occupation of both countries during the transition period. The length of the occupation depends on our progress in changing the very natures of the some eighty million people in each of these first-class powers—now reduced to the ranks.

How long the Allies will be engaged in this task is anybody's guess, but the thing we do know is that we must stick with it until the job is done if we are to get lasting peace. We shall invite disaster if we stop half way. Former Secretary of State Hull declares "we must continue surveillance over these two countries until their peoples demonstrate clearly their willingness and ability to live peacefully in a peaceful world."

NEED FOR A PEACETIME OSS

Some of the war's most surprising and interesting "now it can be told" stories were the first ones describing the secret overseas activities of the Office of Strategic Services. They probably will become more interesting as more details of the dangerous and dramatic OSS operations are recorded.

It is certain that a lot of people never heard of OSS during the war. It also is certain that nobody outside the highest government circles and OSS itself knew exactly what the super-secret agency was doing.

But the people know now. And having become acquainted with OSS, they must decide whether they want to keep it.

The United States never has had a foreign secret service, perhaps because Americans just haven't liked the idea, or because our government has been a little honest, trusting and innocent. But other countries have had such services and will continue to have them.

So it would seem only sensible that we carry over into peacetime some form of organization to collect and co-ordinate foreign information as Maj.-Gen. W. J. Donovan, head of OSS service has suggested.

Already there is talk of smaller occupation forces and a shorter occupation for Germany and Japan than were originally planned. Some day we shall be getting out of both countries. But it is naive and dangerous nonsense to think they will not need watching for a long time, or that influential groups in both countries are not already thinking about a coming war of vengeance.

If we had had an OSS before the war, the disaster at Pearl Harbor might have been averted or certainly minimized. To prevent another such disaster will require constant vigilance, probably maintained in secrecy.

It seems safe to say that an international spy system is a little too sinister and melodramatic for the tastes of most of us. But if it can avoid the inaccuracies, confusion, cross-purposes and delay that led up to Pearl Harbor, let's have it.

T-H-O-U-G-H-T-S

Now no chastening for the present seemeth to be joyous, but grievous; nevertheless afterward it yieldeth the peaceable fruit of righteousness unto them which are exercised thereby.—Hebrews 12:11.

The time that precedes punishment is the severest part of it.—Seneca.

Jeb Wilkins loses the wanderlust

Jeb Wilkins was always a great one for traveling. Two weeks a year he used to cover more ground than a Pullman conductor. Used to come back from vacations tuckered out.

But the war has changed all that. Gasoline shortages—and saving space on trains for service men—has got Jeb spending his vacations home... and liking it!

"Never knew staying home could be such fun," says Jeb. "Outdoor barbecues... sitting around and chatting with the kids and family... basking in the sunshine with a glass of cold beer... that's living," Jeb says. From where I sit, Jeb's discovered what millions of other Americans have learned through the war. Whether your choice is beer or buttermilk... a quiet look or a bit of friendly conversation... there's no place like home... where we grumble the most and get treated the best!

Chapter 32

"JANE'S the smart one," remarked an aunt bitterly. "She slipped out here and worried her way—"

"Jane"—Mark Sheridan's arm was strong—"I have a car outside; let's get out of here."

She could cry softly when they were alone; she could forget her bitter disappointment in the man beside her and rest in the curve of his arm.

"You mustn't forget you made up to her for the others," he said once. "I've reconstructed things, and now I believe I understand everything. I was too hurt at first—"

"Hurt," cried Jane. "Yes, deeply hurt to think that neither you nor Mrs. Stanton trusted me enough to reveal your relationship to me."

She hadn't thought of it that way. "I felt, all along, that Mrs. Stanton had become interested in the company from some unselfish motive. I'd been cheated of unselfish affection, and it meant a great deal more than the actual help she gave me through you. I hadn't—"

Jane sat up indignantly. "Mark Sheridan, you are the stupidest man alive. Gram would have sacrificed me any time to save you."

"As she did when she loaned me the money for that copper shipment?" he asked. "That was money I had to pass on to the next thought of that, too, there in the lobby."

"It seems to me," Jane told him bitterly, "that you were thinking of Mark Sheridan more than any—" one else at that particular moment."

THEY drove into the painted hills, wild rose and purple and amber hills rising into a clear green sky.

There was no one at the big house. The "issue" preferred the better hotels of Sacramento. Only the ancient maid awaited them.

"Dinner's all ready," she announced.

The table was set for two. "Mrs. Stanton said you'd be coming together," the old woman said. "She telephoned your office, and when Miss James said you'd gone to Washington, Miss Jane, she just let go."

"Let go?"

The old woman smiled. "Yes. She said, and I remember her very words, 'Well, now that those two young idiots have settled their affairs, I can let go. I'm so tired and so very happy!'"

"And then she asked me not to try to awaken her."

Neither Mark nor Jane could appreciate the dinner. When they arose the old woman followed them and handed each a note.

Mark Sheridan read his in the twilight of the big porch.

She's ashamed of the scandalous Stanton's son, I'm not; they've danced in the sun and kicked a little too high for propriety's sake, but they've had their fun. They'll learn.

Jane has suffered from their coming. Her heart passed around from one hand to the next with never a home she could call her own; never one person, excepting myself, to give her that unselfish love we all need.

[THE END]

Chapter 1

IF Seth had not come down to Key West for the official flight of his new airplane, Suzy Van Tyne's vacation would have ended quite differently. But that week end was the beginning of it all.

As the heat from a coal-burning sky closed down over the government's landing field Friday afternoon, there was nowhere the slightest hint of the swift disaster that would cost the lives of two people and threaten their own happiness.

Seth Peabody listened eagerly to General Howard's praise as the airplane taxied back to its hangar. "A steam engine for airplanes! I never dreamed it was possible," the General exclaimed. "Why Peabody, that plane of yours was climbing better than 7,000 feet a minute!"

"Thank you, General," Seth said with a quick smile. "Today has been worth the years of work and failure."

The General nodded. "We'll go to my office, and I'll sign the contracts right away."

"But I haven't seen Suzy yet, sir," Seth stopped abruptly, searching the sky with his glasses. "I thought she would watch the flight test from the ground."

"She did intend to, but she saw a strange plane circling the field just before you arrived and decided to chase it off. You know she's the best dogged woman pilot in this country," the General chuckled.

"Van Tyne Aircraft has a special job waiting for her as soon as she gets home. That's the reason I'm staying over this week-end—I'm commissioned to bring her back with me."

"She's been having a beautiful time in Key West. Come along. We can have those contracts signed by the time she gets back..." the General's voice was urgent, but he added irrelevantly, "The best way to protect that airplane of yours is to get it out of Key West as fast as you can."

SETH, startled, was about to ask a question, when he saw the worried look on the General's face. Silently he fell into step beside him. Once inside the cool, shaded office, Seth and the General quickly finished the business of signing the contracts. As he carefully packed his brief case with the precious documents, Seth felt as if a segment of his life was wrapped up with these red sealed papers, these specifications and accepted drawings.

"What are you going to do with that dossier?" the General demanded abruptly.

"Take it to the hotel with me," Seth answered, surprised at the unexpected question. "I'm leaving at sunrise Sunday morning."

"I'll take care of it for you, until after dinner tomorrow night," the General stood up and faced Seth across the table. "As long as you are in Key West and have those plans with you, you are in danger."

Seth stared at him incredulously. "But I don't understand..." he began.

There was something different about Suzy. She made him feel nervous.

"There are men here who have been waiting weeks for the test flight of your plane. They want these plans. Everything we have done here at the fort has been surrounded with the utmost secrecy, but in spite of our precautions, someone was evidently tipped off today and came scouting this afternoon. That's why Suzy took off to drive them away."

"But who—who-what?" Seth began, puzzled over the General's flat statement of facts. "That sounds as if they might be enemy spies."

"Or just competitors," the General answered, non-committally. "All I can do is to warn you again to be careful while you are in Key West. Anything can happen in this town."

So Seth decided to leave not only his contracts, but the dossier as well with the General until he was ready to fly back to New York. A few minutes later he hurried out of the General's office to find Suzy standing beside her roadster, waiting for him.

IN the late afternoon sunshine, Seth was very much aware of the golden picture she made as her tumbled sulphur-colored hair and tan suede jacket seemed to take on an added glow from the bright winter sun. That was the way he loved to see her—all tan and gold—like a sun-drenched picture.

"Hi, Gold," he shouted. "Remember me? I'm the man you're going to marry!"

Perfectly oblivious to the sentry pacing in front of the building, he bent down and kissed her. He saw her face flush under her deep tan, as an orderly sprang forward to open the door of the car for her.

"You're incorrigible!" she breathed as she swung the car through the winding roads of Fort Schuyler. "But I'm glad you came down for the test flight. How's Dad?—and are the contracts signed?"

"Yes, my sweet. Everything's signed, sealed, and at long last delivered. Your dad sent me down to bring you home. The town's too lonesome for both of us without you."

The car seemed to be taking all of Suzy's attention, as she drove carefully out onto Roosevelt Boulevard.

"I imagine you've been having a lot of fun down here, Gold. Seth's voice was tentative. There was something different about Suzy. She made him feel nervous—not quite sure of himself."

"Yes, I'm having a wonderful vacation," she answered quickly. "Wallis Warner is here—your remember her from Miss Holland's school. Henry Potter's here—"

"Not that big fat lummock who is with Western National Airways?"

Suzy laughed. "A perfect description, Seth. But the most important thing is my dancing."

"Don't tell me you've gone back to that?"

"I am taking my dancing rather seriously because I found an unusual dance instructor here. I've been working on the rumba, and the samba."

As they entered the driveway of the Casa Linda, Seth noticed for the first time that Suzy was not wearing her engagement ring!

THE STORY OF THE ATOM

No. 3: The First Mention of Atoms

(1) Smashing of the atoms in the bomb that blasted Hiroshima resulted from a vast store of information about the atom and the way atoms are constructed. The idea of the atom dates back to ancient times. In about the year 375 B.C. in Greece, Democritus, the "laughing philosopher with an untidy grey beard," taught his students that a stone is built up of very small particles, just as a temple is constructed of stones. He called these particles "atoms" and said they were the ultimate of smallness. They could not be divided further.

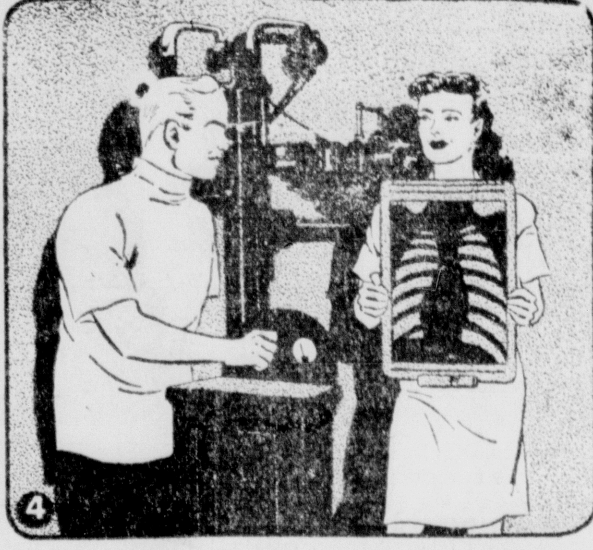

(2) Through the long Dark Ages of Europe and the Renaissance very little was added to the knowledge of the atom. Alchemists dreamed of making gold by breaking up and combining common materials. They puttered around their laboratories, mixing, boiling and distilling strange concoctions. Their work generally ended in disappointment.

(3) Then toward the end of the 18th century came the dawn of modern science. In the 19th century, great advances were made in the science of electricity, high lighted by the invention of the incandescent lamp. In chemistry the idea of the atom became well established. John Dalton, the English chemist, showed how chemical compounds are formed by the elements, such as hydrogen, oxygen, iron and copper, by the union of discrete atoms of these substances. The elements were considered to be the fundamental building materials of the universe.

(4) By 1895 chemists had done wonders with light, electricity, the chemical elements and other mechanisms of nature to produce many startling phenomena and to add to the comfort of living. To many persons of the Gay Nineties, scientists seemed to have arrived at successful formulas for every natural occurrence, such as the force of gravity, the burning of fuel, generation of electricity and the behavior of light. Then Wilhelm Konrad Roentgen in Germany startled the world with his invisible X-rays and could "see through" solid objects and make a picture of such things as the bones of the hand on a photographic plate in utter darkness.

Joe Gardner Is Speaker At Kiwanis Meet

Joe Gardner, who is particularly interested in the industrial therapy program at Warren State Hospital, was guest speaker for the luncheon-meeting of the Kiwanis Club at the Hotel Carver on Wednesday.

Developing his belief that there should be a simplified psychiatry program for the state's mentally unfit, he stated that 18 state hospitals in this state are caring for 35,000 cases, with 2,600 at the local institution. Ninety-nine per cent of these cases, he stated, have committed no crime, yet only $1 per day is allowed for their care against $1.75 allotted for care of individuals in penal institutions. The total of patients now cared for in the North Warren hospital, he remarked, has increased to 60.

All club members were invited and urged to take their families to the district meeting to be held at Conneaut Lake next Wednesday, when a new lieutenant governor for the district will be chosen.

Guests at this week's meeting were George Salsgiver, of Oil City, and Kiwanian Joseph Galbo, of Kane.

Early Lifting Of Controls Promised By Chief Executive

war effort cannot be liquidated overnight.

Mr. Truman expressed hope congress would follow the transitional bill with one to modernize the whole federal tax structure. This, he said, would encourage business incentives and expansion and stimulate consumer buying power.

Other provisions of the point program included a request for enactment of a vast public works program and endorsement of the so-called "full employment bill."

Mr. Truman said he would have recommendations later for a national health program and an expanded social security program.

The president renewed his request for continued drafting of men 18 through 25 for two year periods. Such inductions are necessary, he said, to supplement the voluntary recruitment program to keep occupation forces up to safe levels.

The chief executive likewise reiterated an appeal for legislation to extend unemployment compensation coverage to federal workers and others not now covered and for federal contributions to provide temporary maximum weekly payments up to $25 a week for 26 weeks in every state.

Point by point, the chief executive recommended:

1. Enactment of "full employment" legislation.

2. Federal emergency benefit payments to provide weekly unemployment compensation up to a maximum of $25 throughout the country.

3. Amend the fair labor standards act to substantially increase the minimum wage level of 40 cents an hour which he described as now "obsolete."

4. Extend the provisions of the second war powers act to preserve "the powers necessary" to keep the economy stabilized and "permit us to enter into the difficult period of readjustment without the threat of a disastrous price collapse."

Mr. Truman added it would be necessary for the government also to resist "pressures for increases in wage rates which would imperil price ceilings."

5. Legislation making permanent the president's authority to reorganize administrative agencies "to permit him to lay out the machinery" for carrying on peace-time responsibilities.

He said "executive initiative," which he suggested be subject to congressional veto, "is an effective approach to governmental reorganization."

6. Legislation previously asked creating a permanent fair employment committee to prevent employment discriminations involving race, religion and color.

7. Legislation strengthening the department of labor and giving it supervision of collective bargaining, conciliation and voluntary arbitration. The president added that the war labor board should be abolished "as soon after the conclusion of the forthcoming industry-labor conference as the orderly disposition of the work of the board and the provisions of the war labor disputes act permit, and after facilities have been provided to take care of the wage stabilization functions under the act of October 2, 1942."

8. Continuation of the employment service under federal control at least until the expiration of the war mobilization act—June 30, 1947. He asked that the employment service appropriation for the current fiscal year be increased by $10,000,000 to help find jobs for demobilized veterans and displaced war workers.

9. Enactment of additional measures to strengthen the machinery for carrying out price support commitments to farmers and "for laying the basis for broader peacetime markets for agricultural products."

He recommended that the $500,000,000 of lend-lease funds which congress set aside for farm commodity price support be made available to the commodity Credit Corporation on a continuing basis.

10. That congress expedite legislative giving additional aid to veterans to carry over from military to civilian activities through better organization and over-all planning along the lines recommended by the veterans administration dealing with vocational readjustment, education and training.

The president asked congress for legislation giving veterans social security coverage credit for the period of their service in the armed forces.

11. A public works program calling for reclamation, rivers and harbors, flood control and conservation projects; (2) construction of necessary federal buildings of postwar highway spending authority voted by congress to become effective at the rate of $500,000,000 a year for each of the first three post-war years; (3) appropriation of $25,000,000 to continue the construction of the inter-American highway through central America to the canal zone; (4) the construction of 8,000 new airports and the improvement of 1,500 others; (5) grants to state and local governments for public works and (6) the provision of federal grants for the construction of hospital and health centers.

12. To take up where lend-lease leaves off, the president recommended (A) repeal of the Johnson act barring private loans to nations in default on previous lendings; (B) appropriation of the remaining $550,000,000 authorized by congress for United States participation in UNRRA and consideration of an additional commitment of $1,350,000,000 recommended as the United States' additional share by the recent UNRRA council meeting.

The president foresaw the need also for additional interim lending power to insure "a rapid and successful transition to peacetime world trade" and said that appropriate recommendations would be made later "when we have completed the exploratory conversations already begun with our associates."

13. The president recommended that congress take early steps to increase the salaries of its members from $10,000 to $20,000 per year.

14. "There is no doubt in the mind of any thinking American that members of the congress are grossly underpaid and have been for many years," the president said. "I think that they are entitled—and have already so expressed myself—to a salary anywhere from $15,000 to $20,000 a year. I recommend that the congress enact legislation that the salaries of its members be increased to $20,000 per year."

At the same time he recommended

ed repeal of legislation under which members of the house now receive an additional expense allowance of $2,500 a year. He also recommended that congress "provide decent wage scales" for the executive and judicial branches of the government, asserting the most important impediment to obtaining efficient administration in government "has been the pitiful wage scale."

20. Prompt resumption of the normal operation of the merchant marine to re-establish the nation's foreign trade with legislation to permit the maritime commission to sell ships at home and abroad for private operation.

21. Enactment of legislation for the acquisition and retention of stockpiles and materials necessary to the national defense.

The president said he soon would ask congress for a national health program to provide "adequate medical care for all Americans and to protect them from financial loss and hardships resulting from illness and accident."

He also promised a communication with respect to "expanding our social security system, and improving our program of education for our citizens."

"In this hour of victory over our enemies abroad," the president concluded, "let us now resolve to use all our efforts and energies to build a better life here at home and a better world for generations to come."

The congress has played its full part in shaping the domestic and foreign policies which have won this victory and started us on the road to lasting peace. "The congress, I know, will continue to play its patriotic part in the difficult years ahead, we face the future together with confidence—that the job, can and will be done."

19,504 Fans Honor Immortal Honus Wagner At Pittsburgh

By ELAINE KAHN

Pittsburgh, Sept. 6.—(P)—The old Flying Dutchman, 71-year-old Honus Wagner, looked back on 50 years in baseball and observed that the game, "like the radio and refrigerator, is full of improvements."

"Ball players used to have to be wrestlers and prize fighters," the Pittsburgh Pirate coach declared. "But they're a lot of gentlemen now."

They honored the grizzled, bow-legged veteran with a special "night" yesterday. There was a telegram from National League President Ford Frick, congratulating "the greatest shortstop of them all," and a rousing ovation from the 19,504 fans.

Part of the game's proceeds, expected to total about $10,000, was set aside in a trust fund for Wagner.

"Through?" spat the Dutchman as he lumbered up to home plate for the ceremonies. "Why, I'm just beginning."

It's 28 years since Honus quit playing for Pittsburgh but his amazing records still stand.

A charter member of baseball's Hall of fame, he led the National League in batting eight times and hit 300 in 17 consecutive seasons. He also has a long string of "mosts" to his credit, including games, base hits, singles, doubles, triples and times at bat, 10,427.

Wagner recalled that he started as a $35 a month hurler for Steubenville, Ohio, back in 1895.

"I talked it over with some of the boys in Carnegie (Pa.) and they figured that wasn't enough money," Wagner said. "So I wired back I would come for $40."

I received a reply stating if I didn't want to come for $35 I could stay where I was—so I went."

His friends told him he'd be back in a couple of days.

"But I fooled them," chuckled Honus. "I didn't come back for 50 years."

Interest Aroused For Athletic Club

Several days ago, the Sports Department of the Times-Mirror was asked to inquire through its subscribers as to current interest in an active Athletic Association, whose purpose would be to house and sponsor members and teams in football, baseball, basketball, mushball and other sports.

Several very active younger sportsmen in the community have brought the suggestion to a point and desire the response of Warren and surrounding community residents. The club would have modern clubrooms and facilities and not only would it serve sportsmen here at present, but would be an excellent opportunity for returning G. I.'s to get back into athletics once again. It would enable sports in Warren to be revived, giving this town once again the name of "sports" as it had years ago.

If you are interested in such an association, would you please mail your desire to enter the organization and any suggestions which you have to: Sports Department, Times-Mirror, Warren, Pa. Please sign all letters.

Time is running out on the American League Tiger chasers with Detroit's 2½-game lead looming more formidable with each passing day as the opposition begins to get short on games to play.

Washington, the closest rival, has only 22 left and all of them must be shoved into the record books before Sept. 23 when the Nats wind up their schedule a full week ahead of the rest of the league.

After absorbing a disheartening 10-7 pasting in the opener against Detroit yesterday the New York Yankees found the Bengals' weakness in the second game, 1-0.

Pace, good enough to make the 1944 All-Star team but later shuffled back to the minors, hurled his first complete game of the year, a gaudy three-hit effort that completely bamboozled the leaders, 5-1.

St. Louis and Washington muffed a chance to gain when they split a pair at Griffith Stadium, the Senators taking the opener, 2-1, in 11 innings on Mickey Vernon's five-hitter. Washington had the other half all wrapped up to take home when Lou Finney tied it up with a homer in the ninth and the Browns finally won out, 4-3, in the 10th.

Boston all but eliminated Cleveland from serious contention by beating Bobby Feller, 2-1, in the first of two although the Tribe bounced back behind Allie Reynolds, 5-2, for an even break.

Chicago took both ends of a two-night double from Philadelphia, rounding out a complete twin bill program in the American, swamping the A's, 15-6, and skimming through, 6-5, in 14 innings.

Lefty Ray Prim and Claude Passeau boosted the Chicago Cubs' National League advantage to 4½ lengths by whipping the New York Giants, 5-2 and 10-2, in opening a long final stand against the invading eastern teams.

Harry (The Cat) Brecheen, St. Louis Cardinals' lefthander and top hurler in the National loop, earned his 11th victory to three setbacks, by dumping Boston, 4-2.

Brooklyn widened its third place margin over New York to three games by nailing out Pittsburgh, 5-3, on Goody Rosen's 10th homer with Vic Lombardi on base in the 10th frame.

Cincinnati gave Mike Modak his first big league decision, 1-0, at the Phillies' expense but the Reds couldn't stand prosperity and bowed, 8-4 to Charley Schanz in the afterdark half.

Even Coach Earl (Red) Blaik, speaking with all the studied deliberation of a diplomat, admits that "this is a fine football past."

Just in case any of the coaches and players listed on the Cadets' nine game schedule for the coming campaign have forgotten, Blanchard is the young man who caved in the entire left side of the 1944 Notre Dame line in one blast while Davis loped to 120 points a year ago.

The pair made the best two-pronged attack in college football last fall and they will be as good—or better—this season because Blaik says that his "line is coming along, I am not afraid of that."

He admits to a single worry, a lack of backfield reserves.

ACCUSED

I've been accused of being a "Yes Man" . . . and come to think of it—I am! That is, I like to say "Yes" when people ask for a loan.

Which is only logical, after all, for the more times I say "Yes" the more loans I make. And since making Personal Loans is my full-time business, that's mighty important to me.

*Usually I can say "Yes" in a hurry. But even when circumstances are unusual, I try to find a way to work out a deal. That's why Personal is so often able to make loans that others cannot.

*Of course—once in a while I can't find a way. That's natural. When that happens, I personally sit down with the customer in a private office and discuss the situation frankly, on a common sense basis.

Like most people, I don't believe in unnecessary borrowing . . . but when a loan is needed or to your advantage, I'll be glad to say "Yes". Anytime you need extra cash—see me, won't you? Right now, for instance. See me at Personal Finance Co., 216 Liberty St., second floor, over Lester Shoe Store. Phone 285.

Townships to Get State Road Funds

G. Harold Wagner, Auditor General of Pennsylvania, has approved payments totalling $696,164.47 nearly 1100 of the approximate 1400 second class townships in the Commonwealth. The funds are for the maintenance, construction and reconstruction of township roads and bridges.

The money comes from a $7,000,000 appropriation out of the Motor Vehicle Fund to the State Department of Highways for the 1944-45 biennium. It is allocated on the basis of the ratio which the mileage of township roads in each township bears to the total mileage of township roads in all of the townships of the second class in the Commonwealth as of January 1, 1944. Payments are made quarterly, provided funds previously made available to the township supervisors have been used up.

For Warren county the payments total $10,425.70. The townships receiving the funds, and the amount each will receive, are: Brokenstraw, $924.47; Cherry Grove, $62.62; Columbus, $1032.56; Conewango, $660.84; Corydon, $79.13; Deerfield, $405.30; Farmington, $341.46; Freehold, $893.59; Glade, $338.33; Kinzua, $88.43; Limestone, $155.28; Pine Grove, $567.81; Pittsfield, $556.81; Pleasant, $279.55; Sheffield, $236.81; Southwest, $542.33; Spring Creek, $986.23; Sugar Grove, $1127.12; Triumph, $503.73.

Navy Stages Big Drive For Enlistments

Navy Recruiting Stations all over the country are initiating an all out drive for voluntary enlistments, particularly in the Regular Navy, among men in the age group of 17 to 30 inclusive, who are now eligible by Executive Order of President Truman. This order lifts the ban against voluntary enlistments in draft ages.

The Navy's recruiting drive is designed to speed demobilization of men with long war service, to reduce the Navy's calls through Selective Service and at the same time to enable the Navy to fulfill its extensive responsibilities through the transition period and beyond.

During August, despite the ban on recruiting men between the draft ages of 18 and 37 inclusive, the Navy enlisted more than 16,000 men in the 17-year age group, with parental consent. Of this number 6,300 joined the Regular Navy and the balance entered the Naval Reserve.

Now that the bars are raised permitting the Armed Services to reach into the draft age group for voluntary enlistments the Navy is endeavoring at least to triple the August figures in coming months.

Men who have not been in uniform as well as those recently discharged through the Army and Navy demobilization plan are sought through the recruiting drive. Navy spokesmen announced that already a number of World War II veterans are signing up for the Regular Navy. It is anticipated that this number will greatly increase as the demobilization program progresses. Navy officials point out that such further service is solely a matter of voluntary action on the part of those who want to follow the Navy as a peacetime career. Many veterans have embraced this opportunity after spending long awaited furloughs and leaves at home.

The term of enlistment in the Regular Navy is now reduced from six years to four. Physical standards are lowered in the light of war experience. Men changing to the Regular Navy from the Naval Reserve and men reenlisting in the Regular Navy not only retain their rights to mustering out pay, but also are entitled to full credit for past active duty, a special cash reenlistment bonus, and up to sixty days' leave at home.

News Of The World As Seen In Pictures And Maps

Postwar Problems for President and Congress

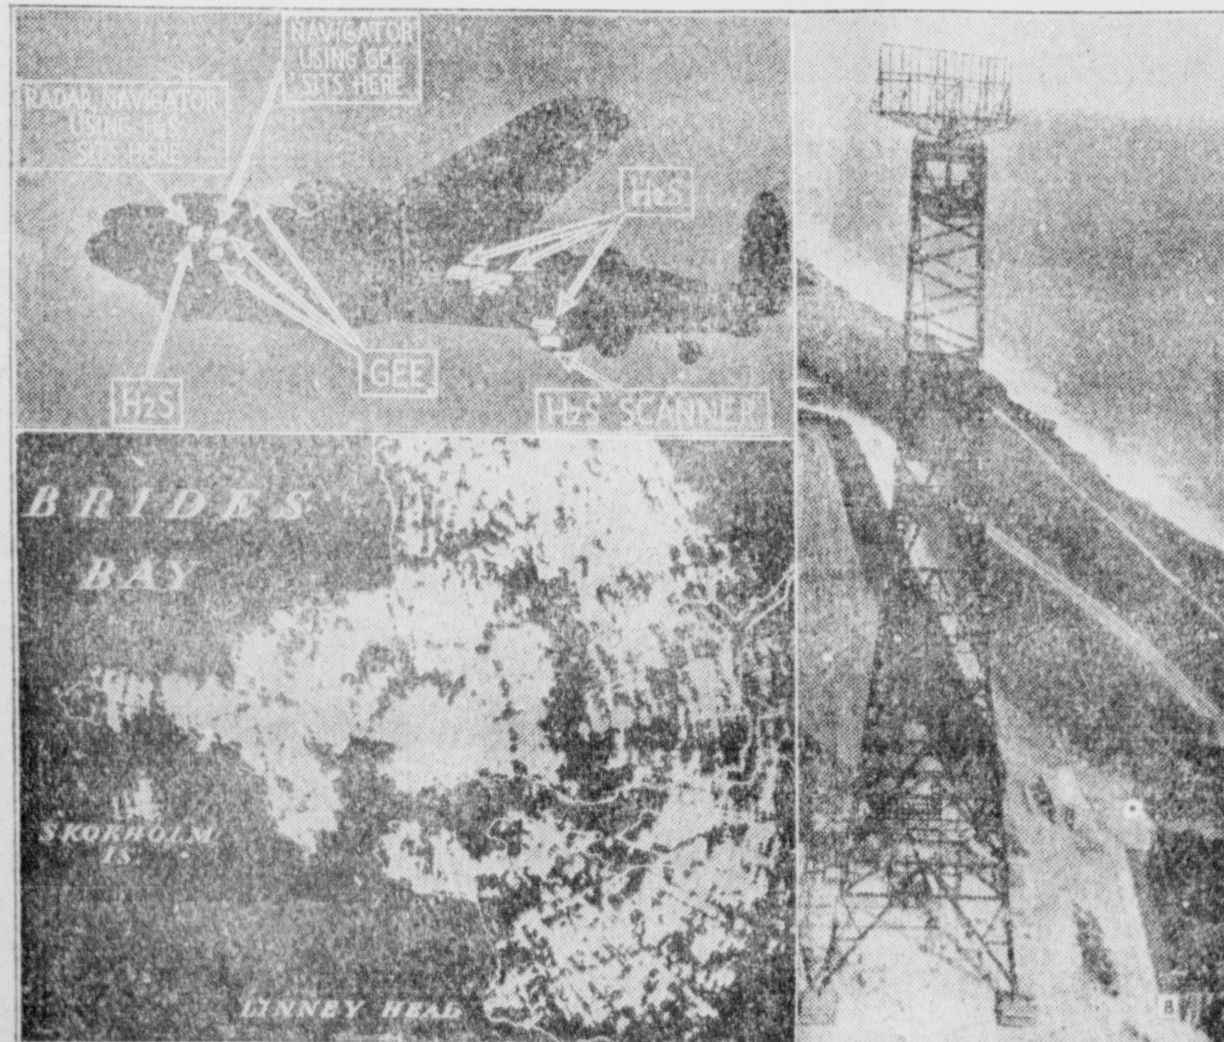

Illustrated above are some of the major headaches facing President Truman and Congress. Of first interest to everyone is the unemployment situation. Millions of servicemen are being discharged and millions of workers released from war plants. Full employment, unemployment compensation, job-making public works and similar measures contain dynamite for many a congressional fight. Another headache is how best to dispose of the millions of dollars worth of industrial plants, built in wartime, by selling or leasing to producers. Many draftees now resent being taken into the Army. Congress may order a 30-day "draft holiday." That eternal headache, taxes, becomes a migraine case, as citizens look for postwar tax reduction. President and Congress must decide how much, and who benefits—the little fellow or the big taxpayer. With the services anxious to keep a large Army and Navy for defense, and millions of servicemen with just one desire—to get home as quickly as possible—demobilization is another prime problem.

Ruins of Tokyo After Aerial Bombardment

A portion of the ruined area of Tokyo is shown in the photo above, made from the top of a wrecked auto. It made no difference in which direction the photographer pointed his camera. The scenes resulting from American aerial raids were the same. The picture was made by Stanley Troutman, NEA Service-Acme Newspictures photographer.

Radar—Electric Eye Pierces Night, Fog, Distance

ANOTHER AMAZING SCIENTIFIC WAR SECRET, of untold value in peacetime, can now be told. This is radar, which at the time of Munich was already secretly surrounding Britain with a curtain of electric waves that no enemy plane could approach undetected. Britain had the world's first radar defense system and, in the summer of 1940, this combined with the Spitfires and Hurricanes to enable the gallant handful of R.A.F. fighter pilots to win the Battle of Britain against enormous numerical odds. The drawing at upper left shows how giant R.A.F. Lancaster bombers are guided from base to their targets by the "Gee" system and then their "H2S" enables the crew to "see" the ground. The photograph at lower left shows what the crew see on their H2S cathode-ray tube even at night or in fog: it is a radar map on which the only additions made are thin outlines for the coastline and, of course, the names. At the right is shown one of the radar stations on the coast of Britain where they were in operation a year before the outbreak of the European war.

Chief Events of Historic Week

Important events of an historic week in the Pacific, including the occupation of the Tokyo area by Allied forces under the command of Gen. Douglas MacArthur, are indicated on map above.

Tokyo Rose

American-born of Japanese parents, Iva Hukio Toguri, above, is one of five young women reported to be "Tokyo Rose," who broadcast Jap propaganda to Allied troops. She is pictured in the cap and gown she wore when she was graduated in 1940 from the University of California at Los Angeles, where she was described as only slightly above average as a student. She was born, ironically, on July 4, 1914, in Los Angeles.

Italy's Choice

Election of Count Carlo Sforza, above, as president of the Consultative Assembly in Italy, which holds its first session Sept. 19, reportedly was assured when all political parties endorsed him. A strong anti-Fascist, he was long an exile in the U. S.

Mac's Liaison

Ken Tsurumi, above, counselor in Jap diplomatic service and formerly consul in Los Angeles, has been named chief liaison officer with General MacArthur's forces in Japan.

Nabbed at Last

One of the last of Hitler's henchmen to be taken by the Allies is Martin Bormann, above, chief deputy of the Nazi Party, listed as one of the most-wanted major war criminals. Bormann rose to power as Hitler's right-hand man after the disappearance of Rudolph Hess in 1941. He'll be an early defendant at the Nuremberg trials.

SHEFFIELD NEWS

Sheffield, Sept. 4—The tenth annual flower show sponsored by the Sheffield Garden Club at the Legion Home last Saturday, proved an outstanding success. The entries were numerous in spite of the poor growing season, and tables were profusely laden with many beautiful displays.

A silver vase was awarded to Mrs. H. F. Frisett, for the best basket arrangement, and a glass swan to Mrs. Ruth Miller, for an outstanding table centerpiece, and the third prize, a pair of bluebirds to Mrs. David Titus a vegetable display.

Many lovely quilts, antiques, dolls, and dishes were also displayed. During the evening, Miss Evelyn Norlin sang "Thank God for a Garden" by DelRigo, and "Trees" by Rasbach.

MISCELLANEOUS SHOWER

Miss Betty Finerty was hostess to sixteen friends, honoring Mrs. Richard Curtin to a theatre party, and a miscellaneous shower at her home last Monday evening. The honored guest received many lovely gifts, after which lunch was served.

PERSONALS

Mrs. Dorothy Gustafson, and son David, Mrs. Helen Peterson of Jamestown, N. Y., Mr. and Mrs. Gust Carlson of Warren, spent the weekend in Beaver Falls, visiting relatives.

Mrs. Robert Anderson Sr. attended the funeral of her sister, Mrs. Florence Williams, wife of Lt. Col. Williams at Washington, D. C. Mrs. Anderson expects to return, and be in her shop Tuesday, the 11th.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Benson have received word that their son, Ego, Carl Benson, Jr., has arrived in the States, after spending the past 33 months in the Pacific Area.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Rossey, children Harold Jr.; Gene, and Nanette of Pittsburgh, and Richard Albaugh of Tionesta were guests over the weekend of Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Beers.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Ewan and daughter Mollie of Linesville, Pa., were weekend guests of Mr. and Mrs. Archie Brown.

Janyce Comfort, JoMarie and Sandra Curtis of Eldred, spent the past week with Miss Lucille Baynes.

Mr. and Mrs. Elliott E. McKean.

Few Buildings Survive Tokyo's Fires

Only the more modern, fireproof-type buildings of Tokyo's bombed areas survived the resulting flames. Photo above, made from a low-flying Navy plane, shows only masonry walls left standing.

A REPORT

Here's how the Telephone situation in Pennsylvania shapes up Today

MORE THAN 129,000 PEOPLE (the total is close to 2,000,000 in the United States) are now on our waiting lists for telephone service. Of these, about one-third are waiting because of shortages of telephone instruments, and the remainder are waiting because new central office equipment—switchboards and dial mechanisms—and wire and cable are needed.

You see, there are three shortages—telephones, switchboards, wire. Some towns are short in all three; some are short in two; all need telephone instruments.

Specifically, 277 of the 461 central offices in our territory simply do not have the facilities—switchboards and dial equipment—necessary to serve all the applicants for telephone service.

And again, it will be necessary to install nearly 400,000 miles of wire in cable to connect telephones with our central offices, before we can give service to all those on our waiting lists.

But the Bell organization is not marking time, and every month will bring us closer to our goal. Production goes on even while reconversion is under way.

Western Electric, source of supply for the Bell system, is now turning out telephone instruments at a rate that is increasing each month . . . and out of the national pool, Pennsylvania's share will be 8,000 in September—50,000 by the end of the year. It could, and might, be more.

SO FAR AS TELEPHONE INSTRUMENTS ARE CONCERNED, WE WILL BE SUBSTANTIALLY IN THE CLEAR BY THE END OF 1945.

Installation of new equipment is already scheduled for 146 central offices.

Installation of wire and cable will step up as equipment is manufactured and as more and more telephone men come back from the war to their jobs.

In short, right now things are moving. Already the waiting lists are going down. There are fewer names on those lists today than there were at the peak, on June 30.

And in the next 12 months, Western Electric expects to employ more people and produce more equipment than in any peace-time year.

So that's how the telephone situation in Pennsylvania shapes up today. Transition from war to peace is a big job. But we're used to big jobs, and we know the importance of this one.

The job will be done, you may count on it, in a big way.
